Mayor Accused Of "One Man Rule"

Death In The Afternoon

"Larry Had One Big Trouble -- He Alweys Kidded Too Much"

Larry Swaze, 17, 646 North Ride road, San Francisco, drowned in a small cattle pond on the Crocker estate behind Daly City Friday afternoon at 2:20 o'clock.

Following is the eye witness account of the story as given exclusively to THE RECORD by Larry's 15 year-old companion. The latter boy's name is not used, at his request.

It was hot this afternoon so Larry and I decided to cut out of school. (Balboa high.)

Larry said he wasn't feeling so good. Not sick or anything, just the weather, I guess.

This was the first time either of us ever cut. My mother wants me to make an "A" in my courses, and I wanted to stay, but Larry wanted to go.

So he and I head for this pond. It was the first time either of us swam there.

When we got to the place, we found four other guys there. I don't know who they were... from another high school I guess.

We put on our bathing suits and Larry was the first one in. He dived in from that bank over there. (The boy pointed to the north bank of the pond. The hole was about 30 feet across and 150 feet long.)

He got out in the center and started fooling around. He was a great one to joke and kid.

He yelled "Look at me," and jumped up and went under. Every time he came up he yelled "Help." We didn't think much about it, because he was laughing all the time. He sure was a great one for kidding.

I guess he did that about eight times. The last time I noticed he only came out of the water up to his chin. I got a little scared, but I couldn't dive in because of this cut over my eye.

Joe, he's one of the other guys, saw Larry go down. When he didn't come up for a while, Joe jumped in. Joe got ahold of him, and tried to drag him to the bank, (about 10 feet away.) Larry fought him, and Joe had to let him go.

Then another guy jumped in to help Joe and the two of 'em got ahold of Larry by the hair. They just about had him ashore when Larry started kicking and they lost him again.

Larry didn't come up, and we couldn't find him.

(The pond is about 30 feet deep and reported to be extremely cold. A thick layer of mud covers the bottom of the hole, and Larry's body sank into the mud.)

Oh, Larry was a great swimmer. One of the best I've ever known. But he was always fooling around. Honest, we thought he was kidding. If we had only known.

(After Larry's body was recov-

Sunderland May Resort To Superior Court In Try To Get Chief's Job Back

W. W. Sunderland today told THE RECORD that he may go to superior court in an effort to get his job back as Daly City's chief of police.

Final decision on the move to take the issue to court "depends on the advice of my lawyer, and other things of which I can not speak today," Sunderland said.

Sunderland would not name his lawyer, or specify what "other things" referred to, although he said he would make this announcement "shortly."

Sunderland has indicated that if the matter ever gets to court several "local people may end up behind the eight ball."

As promised, Tuesday morning Sunderland reported to city hall in an attempt to reclaim his post. He was met by City Administrator Dan Andersen who said "as far as the city is concerned, you have retired." Andersen said he was acting under orders from the city council.

A few minutes later, Sunderland was presented with a letter from the city council in which it was specified he was through.

August 27, 1951 Sunderland signed a letter in which he asked temporary leave of absence, "pending retirement on April 1, 1952. The council has construed this to mean he has signed a contract whereby he has agreed to quit.

City Attorney Frank Blum told THE RECORD that as far as his interpretation of the law goes, "Sunderland is retired."

While Sunderland admits signing the letter requesting sick leave, he believes it was no more than that.

"I am definitely not retired, and will not take out my retirement papers until such time as this matter is cleared up. As far as I'm concerned I am still chief of police."

Sunderland indicated he would "exhaust the appeals to be made on the local level, before turning to the courts."

He is expected to take a plea before the civil service board of review when it meets April 18. Andersen, who is also personnel director for the city, is secretary for this group.

Sources close to the board expect that body to stand by the decision of the council.

Meanwhile, Andersen says the city considers Roland Petrocchi as chief. Petrocchi took over when Sunderland retired, but to qualify for the chief's job on a full time basis he must take a civil service test. This test is to be giv-

Sunderland Claims He Invited DA Here To Clean House

Says Innocent Of Bookie Aid

W. W. Sunderland, who is fighting to get his job back as Daly City's chief-of-police, today presented THE RECORD with a notorized statement as to his innocence in bookie activities here last year.

In presenting this statement Sunderland said:

"As a policeman I know I have enemies, but I did not realize I had so many friends."

"Nor did I realize the politicians had so many enemies."

Sunderland has staunchly maintained his innocence in the bookie activities which resulted in over a half dozen indictments by District Attorney Louis Dematteis in July and August of 1951.

Sunderland maintains he asked for aid from the Sheriff's office and Dematteis to clean up the bookie situation here.

Following is his statement:

This is to certify that W. W. Sunderland, chief of police of Daly

Air Raid Alert Is Run Off Smoothly

Residents Take It Without Much Fuss

San Mateo county residents went through a practice air raid alert yesterday, April 3, and the Daly City operation proceeded smoothly and without a hitch.

In fact, somewhat to the surprise of a few officials, the entire county-wide operation was a success.

The yellow alert was sounded here at 9:30 a. m., with the red alert coming at 10:15 and the all clear following at 10:30.

In Daly City the alerts were sounded simultaneously from four separate points—the city hall, the pump house at Citrus and Niantic, Company Six on Werner, and in Westlake. The first three locations used air horns to sound the alerts. The Westlake district depended on a siren.

Police Chief Roland Petrocchi said everything went off on schedule. Officers phoned in to report that all horns could be heard clearly, except in the Westlake area. Officials are still experimenting to determine the best location for the Westlake siren, Petrocchi explained. The warning was heard only faintly there today.

Since all papers throughout the county had given publicity to the practice, most citizens took the alerts calmly. They were not asked to participate in any way. However, the police switchboard here handled quite a number of calls from anxious housewives, wanting to know what it was all about.

Police on duty today were required to check in when they heard the yellow alert, and Petrocchi said that from now on all

Cheatham In Race; No Opposition

Two School Board Elections Set May 16

Mrs. Helen Cheatham, trustee of the Jefferson elementary school board, announced today she will seek reelection to that post May 16.

A trustee for one term, Mrs. Cheatham has been active in local women's groups and the PTA. She resides at 61 Muirwood drive.

To date no one has filed in opposition to the Daly City woman, although Claude Hanrahan, veteran of three unsuccessful trys for trustee, is expected to oppose her.

Peter Markovich, also up for reelection, earlier announced he will seek another term on the Jefferson High School Board.

Elio Fontana has announced he will be a candidate for the high school board. Fontana is active in civic affairs and is in the monument business in Colma.

RECORD COUNTY REGISTRATION SEEN

A record county registration for the June primary election is expected this year, R. J. Patterson, county registra of voters, said today.

It is expected that an all time high of 125,000 may register for the primaries, Patterson asserted.

Deadline for registration is April 10.

Last minute registration may be made after 6 p.m. at two local offices April 9 and 10. Callan Realty Co., 2790 Junipero Serra boulevard will be open from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. April 9 and 10; while the Fahey Realty Co., 5 Wellington avenue, will be open until 9 p.m. these two days.

"We hope the residents of the Daly City area will bring the registration figure well over the all time record high," Patterson said.

Daly City Kiddies Eagerly Await Big Easter Egg Hunt

Three Sites To Be Used For Occasion

Daly City's annual Easter egg hunt will be held for thousands of local youngsters this year. The date for this event is Thursday, April 10, at 2:30 p.m.

In case of rain, the event will be run off Saturday, April 12, at 11:00 a.m.

Two of the sites used last year will be used again. The site at Westlake will be slightly changed. There will be 4,000 colored Easter eggs hidden at the three sites with prize eggs which will be plainly marked "prize" so there will be no mistaking these eggs for others. Three different age groups will participate in this event, thereby offering a better opportunity, and avoiding congestion as much as possible. These three age groups are: five years and under, six years to eight, and nine years to 12.

The new site will be in Westlake, for those children living west of Junipero Serra boulevard. To arrive at this site you go west on Alemany, turn right on Merced boulevard. This site is located next to the Olympic Club property, and adjacent to Lake Merced boulevard on Doelger property. Signs will direct you starting on Lake Merced boulevard.

The youngsters living south of the "Top of the Hill" will go directly to the top of Gambetta street where they will find the facilities for the hunt there.

The third site is on Frankfort street between Templeton avenue and Oliver street. This site will be used by those children who live

Klassen Blasts Green's Action

A verbal blast was set off under Mayor Paul Green today as R. A. Klassen, city engineer, accused the mayor of treating him in a "very shabby manner," holding up work on parks, and generally operating a one man government.

"I've known government in Daly City for the past 37 years, but I've never seen anything like this one man set up before," Klassen said.

The city engineer decided to make his accusations public only after Mayor Green allegedly held up payment due Klassen for work here.

Klassen claims it took him from October 1951 to February 29, 1952 to collect $1,500 for work done on Marchbanks and Edgewood Parks. He said he is still waiting payment of $3,700 for the extension of Knowles avenue.

"It seems Green has taken everything upon himself," Klassen said. "He decides when I'm going to be paid, and what I am going to do. I've never witnessed such arbitrary treatment before."

Specifically, Klassen charged Green with:

1. Exercising the powers of a one man government. Klassen states Councilmen Fred Bertetta, A. J. Gaggero and James Kennedy are not to blame for Klassen's difficulties in doing engineering work here. "I feel that only two members of the city council really come into the picture" (Green and Councilman Ed Mooney).

2. Holding up work on Edgewood Park. "I had a hell of a time getting that park finished. One day I would hire workers, and the next I would come on the job to find that Green had fired them." Furthermore, Klassen chrages Green with "holding up this and that" on other city jobs.

3. Attempting to have Klassen retire without Klassen's approval. "Last January I entered city hall, and noticed on the agenda of the city council that I was to retire. I asked Green about it. He showed me a resolution, by which I was to retire. It was news to me."

Later, the council pased another resolution—acceptable to Klassen—whereby he would retire, but only after he had completed work he had started here before

Westlake Parcel 'H' Squabble Ends In Compromise

Council Not Forced To Vote On Measure

Compromise has settled the three months battle over the zoning of Parcel "H," a 200 by 300 foot plot of land in Westlake.

Final agreement was reached Monday night at a meeting of the Westlake Improvement Association, representatives of 224 petitioners and Henry Doelger.

The petitioners agreed to drop their efforts to have the land's zoning changed from commercial to residential.

In turn, Doelger agreed to:

". . . notify the interested parties . . . in order that they may examine plans for any structure to be built on Parcel "H," other than first class residential residences, two weeks prior to filing application for building permit with the council of Daly City."

"Furthermore, if at any time the property should be disposed of by Henry Doelger Builder Incorporated, it is hereby agreed that prior to consumation of the sale, it will first be re-zoned to first class residential."

Doelger's agreement was in the form of a letter to the city council which was duly entered into the record at the adjourned meeting of the council Tuesday evening.

Thanks to the compromise, the city council was not forced to vote either way on the zoning issue.

The Tuesday council meeting, attended by some 20 residents was necessarily short. However, representatives of the Westlake resi-

January, 1951. Ed Smith was appointed his successor.

"However, I am still city engineer," Klassen said. "I haven't put in my resignation, and don't intend to until all my work is finished."

Klassen noted he had told the council he wanted to resign, but made it clear that this would not go into effect until he had finished jobs begun in the past years.

"I resented Green's try to shove me out of office," Klassen said. "It was neither fair, nor right."

A resident of San Carlos, Klassen concluded by noting "Something is screwy up there, (Daly City)." He would not elaborate, observing he had said enough.

Returning to the question of why Green had held up payments due to him, Klassen said:

"As you no doubt have gathered, I am quite put out as to how I have been treated. I feel I should have been informed within a few days as to why payment was held up."

Klassen said he did not blame Dan Andersen, city administrator, for the delay. "After all, Andersen is working under orders from Green."

Following is a letter Klassen submitted to the city council this week, explaining his stand on the matter of payments due:

April 2, 1952

City Council of the City of Daly City
Daly City, California

Gentlemen:

The following is with reference to how two of my bills for services rendered on two completed projects have been handled after delivering the bills into the hands of Mr. Dan Andersen, the Daly City administrative office.

Marchbank Park and Edgewood Park Playgrounds: .....

In early October, 1951, I rendered a bill for $1,500.00 on account.

This bill not being paid at the November 26th and December 10th meetings, I asked Mr. Andersen why. He told me the Mayor held it up as he wanted my final bill, broken down as to the amount to be charged against each playground.

On November 13 I certified the completion of the contract of the San Jose Steel company for fencing at Edgewood park. This completed my work on both playgrounds.

On December 17th I rendered my final bill with my monthly detailed costs attached, together with a letter setting forth the cost of the work under my charge and supervision. This letter also gave my best estimates of how much of my bill should be charged against each playground.

After the January 14th meeting I asked Mr. Andersen why the bill had not been paid. He stated the Mayor held it up because he questioned a statement I made in the letter.

Eventually I was able to meet the Mayor and showed him where the statement in the letter was corect. He told me to have Mr. Andersen have the bill for payment at the next Council meeting. The bill was paid at the February 29th meeting.

Knowles Avenue Improvement:

On January 9, 1952, I certified to the City Council that the contract of Eaton and Smith was completed.

On January 31st I finished making up the required final report to the State. This report, in 3 portions, took six pages and analyzed all the detailed expenditures made on the project. I also addressed a letter to the City Clerk breaking down the cost to be charged out of the City's General Fund and out of the State Gas Tax Fund, together with a copy of the report. On this same date I left with Mr. Andersen a copy of the letter to the Cty Clerk together with my bill.

The bill not being paid at the February 11th meeting, I asked Mr. Andersen why. He said he had not seen it. I told him it was attached to the copy of the City Clerk's letter.

The bill not having been paid at February 25th and March 10th meetings, I went to ask Mr. Andersen why, he was not in. Mrs. Cahn and I found the bill on his desk. I attached the bill to a note to Mr. Andersen, asking him if he would put it on the agenda for payment at the March 24th meeting.

The bill not having been paid at your March 24th meeting, I called on Mr. Andersen and asked if he knew why. He said he did not attend the last Council meeting, and showed me the bill attached to a claim with his approval for payment. The next morning, after the meeting, he found the bill with his approval claim attached on his desk. He stated the Mayor said he questioned the amount of the bill and wanted it held up.

For you information, my bill is made up of the following:

(a) Preparing plans, profiles, maps etc. required for application for grade crossing	$ 333.03
(b) Prepare plats and descriptions for acquisions of right of way	$ 100.00
(c) Prepare plans and specifications	$2,041.97
(d) Engineering and inspection of construction	$1,225.00
Total	$3,700.00

My book cost was $2,450.79, making the gross profit $1,249.21.

This was not a simple street improvement project, and definitely should not be considered as such. It should also be born in mind that the State did not question any portion of my final report.

As you no doubt have gathered, I am quite put out as to how I have been treated. I feel I should have been informed within a few days as to why payment was held up. I am not certain as to the reason for treating me in this manner, after 33 years of conscientious work for Daly City.

I feel that only two members of your body really come into the picture. I feel that if Mr. Bertetta, Mr. Gagero or Mr. Kennedy wanted an explanation, they would have instructed Mr. Andersen to ask that I be requested to give it. As it has been, I feel very definitely that I have been treated in a very shabby manner.

Very truly yours,
R. A. KLASSEN
City Engineer

ered, the boys were taken home by THE RECORD'S photographer. Following is a brief conversation the boys, aged 12 to 15, held among themselves.)

What are you going to do tonight?

Me, I'm going home and go to bed. Try to forget it.

Not me, I'm going to the movies. I'd keep thinking about how he looked when they dragged him out.

Shut up, let's forget it.

How can you forget that.

I'm not going swimming again, for a long, long time.

I guess I'll go to the movies.

Yeah.

Shut up.

The drowned boy was the son of Edwin Swayze, a machinist. He had two sisters and two brothers.

His body was recivered by Daly City police with the help of Sheriff Earl Whitmore's department.

officers will be required to call the office, whether or not on duty—just to make sure it is merely a practice.

The chief asked that all citizens take these alerts calmly, but warned against growing uninterested in the whole procedure. He said a complete series of practice raids has been set up through December, and warned that some of them will start right off with the red alert—not preceeded by the yellow.

Here is the signal system, as supplied by the chief, for the information of citizens of Daly City. The yellow alert is sounded by 10 short blasts, and means there is a possibility of attack by enemy planes or other carriers. The red alert, signalled by 30 shorter blasts of the horn, indicates the real thing ,or a major disaster. The all clear consists of three short blasts of the horn.

All three signals were used in today's practice.

Sunderland May Resort To Superior Court

en later this year.

Sunderland said he had nothing but admiration for Petrocchi, and in no way considered him involved in the hassel.

The Daly City chief's salary is $425 a month. When Sunderland retires, he will receive "well over $200 a month," a civil service official said.

"Money isn't the reason I am trying to get my job back," Sunderland said. "I am chiefly interested in clearing my name."

Sunderland has indicated more than once that he was the "fall guy" in the city's attempt to "take the heat off the bookie situation" last year.

The chief was asked to take sick leave after a series of bookie raids here by the district attorney's office. His name, at the time, was linked with the bookies, and District Attorney Louis Dematteis asserted Sunderland had "tipped off" a bookie before a raid.

Law Of Averages Will Kill You

The California Highway Patrol today advised careless motorists who bet their lives daily that their chances of having an accident are as great as ever, but odds in favor of their being killed in that accident are increasing.

Death edged ahead as a favorite on the basis of combined January-February figures showing statewide total of rural accidents remaining fairly stable when matched with the same period in 1951, but with percentage of fatal accidents and deaths climbing sharply.

A check of rural accident reports for the two periods shows only a one-half of 1 per cent rise in total accidents but almost a 15 per cent jump in fatal accidents and a 10 per cent increase in the number of fatalities.

Excessive speed was blamed for most of the additional deaths. "The faster they go, the harder they hit," commented Patrol officials.

City, on or about August 1, 1951, and or prior to the investigation conducted by the Sheriff and the District Attorney of San Mateo county in conjunction with special agents of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co. did request from Sheriff Whitmore and District Attorney Dematteis aid and assistance in order that any vice, gambling, bookmaking and so forth found in the City of Daly City could be suppressed and the violators arrested.

This request was made in the office of the District Attorney of San Mateo personally and directly to the District Attorney and the Sheriff of San Mateo county.

That Chief Sunderland advised and requested a thorough investigation of Daly City and the Daly City Police Department by the District Attorney and the Sheriff's Department with or without notifying him or any member of his department when same was conducted, also that Chief Sunderland requested the District Attorney to select and recommend any member of the Daly City Police Department; so that the said member would be referred to the Daly City Police Commission for assignment to special duty to suppress and arrest anyone involved in any form of vice or gambling.

Board Waiting For Expansion Approval

Planning Commission, City Council Must OK

Awaiting approval of the county planning commission is a measure for incorporating five city blocks of Colma within Daly City, according to H Z. Weibel, superintendent of the Jefferson Elementary school district.

If favorable action is taken, he said, the additional revenue accruing will allow construction of new playground facilities in the area.

Granted approval of the planning commission, said Weibel, the proposed change will go to the Daly City council for its consideration. He expects action on the measure to be taken in the immediate future.

At a meeting last Thursday of the Jefferson district school board, approval of the coming district tax election was received from the Colma and Woodrow Wilson Parent-Teacher associations. The election will call for an increase of 90 cents to $1.50 per $100 of assessed valuation.

In conjunction, statistics were submitted to the board showing a comparative evaluation of revenue, as affected by the proposed increase in assessed valuation. The figures, Weibel said, were used to ilustrate that the proposed increase will not raise revenue to the district by more than $60,000.

At the meeting, positions were granted to two new teachers. Newly hired is Mrs. Mollie Lehrman, who replaces Mrs. Melanie Fernekes, recently retired. Mrs. Lehrman will teach at the Garden Village school.

Also recently employed is Edward Mosconi, who will teach eighth grade at the Colma school. Mosconi replaces Harry Aronson. Aronson left his teaching position to take the post of business manager of the school district.

The board took corrective action on a report by the Daly City Fire department regarding deficiencies in fire safety precautions in schools in the district, and adopted a plan for coordinated and comprehensive instruction of teachers in civilian defense methods, Weibel reports. The newly adopted plan is designed to show teachers how best to protect their pupils in case of attack, he added.

For the use of county schools audio-Visual library facilities, the board okeyed payment of $611.87 per year. The sum, said Weibel, will bring the district a return of aproximately $1,200-$1,300 in value of service. The films and other facilities will be used to augment classroom instruction.

DRIVER'S LICENSES IN CALIFORNIA

A grand total of 5,386,448 drivers' licenses were outstanding in California as of December 31, 1951, reports the National Automobile Club. Of this total, 4,923,418 were operators' licenses and 463,030 were chauffeurs' licenses.

Expansion Program Slated For Colma Bank of America

Major expansion of Bank of America's Colma branch at a cost of $106,792 that will double present facilities is now underway, it was disclosed today by J. Ferrari, branch manager.

A complete new addition will be built on the rear of the present building, Ferrari said. When completed the bank will have more than 4,000 square feet of floor space for both lobby and working area.

Other improvements and additions include a new vault, enlarged safe deposit facilities, and complete redecoration of the lobby interior. A total of 11 teller windows will be available to serve the public, and space for two additional loan officer desks is being provided.

Growing business activity in the Colma area, and increased demands for Bank of America services here have made the enlargement necessary, Ferrari said. The Colma branch is located at the gore of Mission and Rainier streets and San Pedro road.

It is requested by the committee that all parents please refrain from entering the "hunt area." The parents are cordially invited to the site of the hunt, but please leave the hunting to the children.

The Daly City Recreation Department will again sponsor this event with the assistance and cooperation of the Daly City-Colma Girl Scouts, Colma PTA, Crocker PTA, General Pershing PTA, Hillside PTA, OLPH Mothers' Club, Woodrow Wilson PTA, James L. Snell PTA, Westlake PTA, D. C. Women's Civic Club, and the Boy Scouts.

Many hours of preparation go into these annual hunts, and it would be impossible to stage them without the aid of these interested organizations.

TEEN-AGERS ON RECKLESS SIDE

Teen-age boys and girls are inclined to be a little on the reckless side when they climb behind the wheel of a car, points out the National Automobile Club. Parents should strive continually to educate their children in the ways of safe and responsible driving, if they want them to stay out of accidents—or to stay alive.

Westlake Parcel 'H' Squabble Ends In Compromise

dents did have a few words for the record.

A. H. Altman noted he was still not entirely satisfied, as it was the intention to have the property rezoned to residential. However, he observed:

"So long as we are given notice of Mr. Doelger's intentions, I believe I can speak for all the petitioners in saying the agreement is satisfactory."

He said, too, that a "council vote at this time might prove detrimental to all the people of Daly City." (The council election is next Tuesday, April 8.)

Starr Dunhamm said he was still opposed to any commercial building going into the property facing Lake Merced.

"And for the record, I would like it to be known that Mr. Doelger Monday night told me that he has no plans for this parcel of land for at least five years."

This is what Doelger has maintained all along, although the residents involved in the squabble said they believed he was going to put a night club on the land.

Arnold Pannella, 61 Cliffside drive, asked if the property could not be classified as "not zoned at all." Mayor Paul Green reminded him that the property is already zoned commercial.

The meeting concluded when Mayor Green, acting on Doelger's letter, called for a vote to approve the letter, or compromise. Councilmen Jim Kenedy, Ed Mooney, A. J. Gaggero and Mayor Green voted "yes." Councilman Fred Bertetta was absent.

The first car to come off the assembly lines as Studebaker began its second century of manufacturing operations was the occasion for special ceremonies in South Bend, Ind. Harold S. Vance, Studebaker board chairman and president, second from left, was one of the interested spectators as this Champion 4-door sedan signaled the start of a new century for the world's oldest builder of highway transportation. Mort Linder, South Bend radio news commentator, left, is shown interviewing Vance as the car came off the line. Studebaker officially observed the end of its first century on Feb. 16, and the beginning of its second century of production on Monday, Feb. 18.

PARKED BUSSES POSE DEFINITE THREAT

As illustrated by the picture above, the bus situation here is becoming quite a problem, at least during the rush hours.

We would suggest, for the sake of sanity of pedestrians and motorists that something be done to remedy this congested situation.

The solution, as it appears to us, is to route the busses off of Mission street for at least one block at the end of the line.

The city proposes to do this when Brunswick street is completed, but how long will this be? Meanwhile, the long line of buses continues to be a threat.

It appears to us a little thought on the part of the city council, in cooperation with the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission, would resolve itself into a solution.

Maybe this thought will be forhtcoming when the council elections are over next Tuesday. We certainly hope so.

LET'S HAVE A MAJORITY VOTE TUESDAY

The traditional political forecasters have drawn into their holes this year, and are making no definite predictions on the outcome of the city election.

"Smart money" is riding on the nose of just about every candidate, with the odds as even as they have been in any race since the city was incorporated.

As in no other election, the final outcome will be determined by the number who turn out to vote. As always, the political wise have lined up a nucleus group to vote for their candidates. In the past this small minority, by the simple means of getting out and voting, has swept candidates into office. They may do it again...but only if the majority stay home.

We, therefore, urge the residents with little or no interest in politics to exercise their right to vote. We urge them to examine the qualifications of the candidates, as expressed by those candidates in this issue of THE RECORD. We urge them to vote for the candidates they believe will do the best job in office.

It is not an easy thing, this choosing for whom to vote. It is made more difficult in a community such as this, for few have the opportunity to actually meet and talk over issues with the candidates.

Yet, it is in the small communities, such as Daly City, where the final hope for democracy rests. If residents fail to take interest in government directly affecting their lives, what can we hope for in state and national politics?

It is to be hoped that you, as a voter, will exercise the right your son, relative or friend may die to defend in Korea. Voting is such a little thing, but it means so much.

Daly City polls will be open from 7 a. m. to 8 p. m. Tuesday, April 8. We hope to se you there.

IT IS TIME FOR OUR OWN POST OFFICE

A plan whereby Daly City's postoffice is to be made independent of San Francisco has been offered by several leading citizens.

THE RECORD is inclined to go along with this idea. It apepars to us that Daly City is large enough to warrant a post office of its own. Benefits derived from an independent office are many, the least of which would be free advertising in the form of a Daly City postmark.

And even if this move for independence fails, we believe it is still possible to get this cancellation. It is a small thing, but would do much to put our city on the map.

We have examined the problem, and decided that a Daly City post office could function just as well when withdrawn from the protective wing of San Francisco.

A high post office official told us that service here would remain the same, and possibly be improved.

We, theredfore, wholeheartedly endorse the plan for an independent post office. The next move is up to the residents.

KOREA VET URGES CD PROGRAM

This week a gentleman from the state civilian defense organization dropped into the office to discuss the perplexing problem of arousing interest in the local civilian defense program.

We again pointed out the two major stumbling blocks to an effective program here...apathy and lack of finances.

This gentleman wisely observed that of the two problems, apathy is the worst. The financial problem will be overcome...possibly this year; but it is one thing to dig up dollars, and quite another to arouse public interest.

People simply won't face up to the very real danger of an atomic bombing. Local officialdom is making little or no effort to point up this danger.

It is, then, with mixed feelings that we print the following letter from a local boy now serving in Korea. We would like to say his words will be meaningful, but we are afraid he is wasting precious time in writing such a letter.

But you be the judge. Following is the letter from Sgt. Byron D. Kimler, Seoul, Korea:

24 February, 1952
Seoul, Korea

Dear Sir:

Just finished the February 21st edition of The Record. One article caught both my attention, and disapproval.

Seems like you people in the states must feel awfully secure to take a practice air alert so lightly. The time may come when you have the real thing. Then what will you do?

Here in Korea, an alert may be real or practice—you never know. But, real or practice, we know what to do and where to go.

I agree with The Record, in that most of the responsibility rests on the city officials, for not working out an alert program, and seeing that the people of Daly City and vicinity are well informed as how to carry it out in an advent of the real thing.

But, Mr. Citizen is also to blame. It's up to him to wake up the officials and see that they get with it.

Sinking of Maine Vivid Memory

By KEITH GARDNER

On the morning of February 15, 1898, the battleship Maine, pride of the United States fleet, lay at rest in Habana harbor. A few moments later, a cataclysmic explosion sent the Maine to the bottom, with 266 officers and men.

Thirteen years later, 1911, the United States Cruiser North Carolina dropped anchor in Havana harbor. Cuba was in American hands at that time, having fallen to us in the short and victorious Spanish-American War that was precipated by the sinking of the Maine.

On board the North Carolina were a party of congressmen and representatives of the Navy department, sent to investigate the explosion that sunk the Maine.

Also on board was chief machinist's mate Joseph Gehrig, now living at 342 Irvington street, Daly City.

Gehrig unlimbered an early-model Kodak while a cofferdam was built around the sunken ship and pumped dry.

When the shattered Maine, aided by the cofferdam, was floating again, the investigating commission investigated and Gehrig took pictures of the torn and barnacle-encrusted hull.

Then the North Carolina took the cumbersome wreckage in tow, and dragged it hundreds of miles out to sea, where it was again sent to the bottom, with the remains of its crew still aboard.

WITH THE AID OF A COFFERDAM, the U. S. S. Maine is raised from the bottom of Havana harbor. Photograph taken in 1911 by Joseph Gehrig, 342 Irvington street, Daly City, at that time a chief machinists mate aboard the cruiser North Carolina. Sinking of the Maine in 1898 precipitated the Spanish-American War.

Gehrig, now employed as a toolmaker for a San Francisco firm, and acting as chaplain for Old Glory Post No. 2044, VFW, remembers the North Carolina and her role in the Maine affair in detail.

He was, he remembers, one of the North Carolina's regular complement of 500 men. The cruiser itself bristled with armaments. She carried, says Gehrig, four 10-inch guns, 16 six-inchers, 32 three-inchers, and eight torpedo tubes.

The North Carolina went to Havana twice, spending two weeks there, on the second trip, before towing the Maine on its last voyage.

Gehrig has lived in Daly City for 18 years now. A native of Zurich, Switzerland, he spent a total of four years in the Navy, and recalls the resurrection of the Maine as the highpoint of those years.

U. S. Must Build Civil Defense

RURAL AMERICA HAS IMPORTANT PART IN PROTECTING HOME FRONT

(This is the second of a series of articles on civil defense, based on the booklet "This Is Civil Defense" prepared by the Federal Civil Defense Administration. It may be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C., for ten cents.)

By MILLARD CALDWELL
Federal Civil Defense Administrator

Even if forewarned of war, our armed forces cannot prevent attack, for there is no sure way of keeping enemy planes from getting through our defenses. The enemy's first objective would be to upset the war efforts of the civilian population, as well as to destroy property and to kill and injure people. His aim would be to make you quit, leave your jobs, desert your homes and start panic among you. Panic can take a tremendous toll of lives. It also can bring production to a stand-still.

It is the task of the civil defense to organize and train millions of Americans so that each one will be prepared to render the best protective service at the moment it is needed.

Your aim should be to accept that training so that you will know how to rescue the trapped and injured, know how to work with volunteer fire-fighting units, know how to prevent panic and know how to perform any of the specific duties of civil defense, particularly those you have indicated, in your training, that you are best qualified to do.

There are ways to save thousands of people from the effects of blast, radioactivity and heat from the atomic bomb. There are ways to take shelter, to rescue the trapped and injured, and ways to cut fire loses to a minimum. Organized civil defense can do those things.

The atomic bomb is too expensive to use purpesely on a farm community. However, this relative freedom from attack only adds to the responsibility of the people who live in such areas. Civilians away from the target area will be better able, mentally and physically, to cope with situations of disaster.

Farm People Equipped

With cars, trucks and tractors available, farm people are well equipped to aid any stricken area within their reach. Mobile support, rescue and evacuation work are phases of civil defense that rural folk are especially qualified to do. To do any of them without confusion and delay, you must be organized and trained.

It is imperative that farm families learn about biological warfare and how to watch for it. While you are protecting your family and your livestock from infections and your crops from infestations, you are cooperating with the civil defense program.

There are ways of keeping disease from spreading, and of protecting our food and water supplies. Civil defense, working with existing health agencies and physicians, attends to that job.

We should be prepared to cope with poison gases. And we can be, for there are good defenses against them. There are ways of sharply reducing loses from gas attacks, and civil defense provides the best answers.

Civil defense services are organized to bring in help from outside, and to get a stricken city back into working order in the shortest possible time. It provides food, shelter and medical care for victims of attack.

Defense Takes Planning

Civil defense takes planning, organization, and a lot of hard work. There are jobs for you. Find out where you can serve your family, your community and yourself the best. Then volunteer for the work you are best suited to do.

Civil defense cannot protect every life and every home, but it will save thousands of lives—maybe your life or the life of someone dear to you.

(The next article will discuss what would happen if an A-bomb fell on your city without civil defense.)

"I REMEMBER"
BY THE OLD TIMERS

From Salena Taylor, Somerset, Ky.: I remember when they would take a hickory limb and shave it down and make a scrub broom. They would take sand and scrub floors and cedar churns and water buckets.

From Mrs. A. J. Kronewitter, Elkhart, Ind.: I remember when the men got the hogs ready for the winter's food supply, each of us were assured of at least one nice long pig tail. We'd rush back to the house and pop the pig tail into the hot oven of the kitchen range, and I don't think anything ever tasted better.

From Mrs. Elza Harmon, West Terre Haute, Ind.: I remember the first show I ever saw was Uncle Tom's Cabin.

From Archie West, Cincinnati: I remember when I had a bad cough, my mother would mix some sweet vinegar with butter for a cough syrup and give me a dose. I believe it helped, but doctors never prescribe it now, so maybe it was just imagination.

From C. E. Pleas, Chipley, Fla.: I remember we children slept in trundle beds that rolled under the big beds. And when our cousins came to spend the night, we slept six in a bed—four side by side and two across the foot.

From Eugene Cannon, Miami, Fla.: I remember when most men carried pistols, perhaps to shoot an adversary not on a social par, but white men of equal rank could engage in violent fist fights and never even think of using the pistols in their pockets.

Sarto Calls For Support Of Move To Set Up Independent Post Office Here

April 1, 1952

The Record
Daly City, Calif.
To the Editor:

I wish to express my thanks for the interest and backing of THE RECORD in advertising the petition currently being circulated by Mickey DeBernardi in Daly City to remove the post office from the jurisdiction of San Francisco.

It is my belief that the citizens and businesses of Daly City are being deprived of a valuable advertising medium because the Daly City post office does not have its own cancellation stamp. Also, the designation, San Francisco 25, for our city has led to considerable mishandling of mail.

For example, my mail addressed to 130 Vale street, Daly City is frequently delivered to 130 Vale street, San Francisco in zone 16. Such mishandling would not occur if Daly City mail were not routed through San Francisco.

Daly City has long been considered the "Gate-way" to the peninsula, and is actually the oldest peninsula community. Why should the post office department consider us a sub-division of San Francisco while all other peninsula communities are separate entities?

I give my full support to this campaign to put Daly City back on the postal map.

Respectfully yours,
Joseph Sarto

Resident Feels Tromborg And Wilson Will Best Represent People On Council

Editor:

It is with great interest that I have watched this year's city council campaigning.

I was especialy impressed with the way in which Mr. Tom Tromborg and Mr. Del Wilson carried on their campaign. They have got my vote because they offer the people a constructive program, and have not resorted to mud slinging to get into office.

I, as many of my neighbors, feel that Mr. Tromborg and Mr. Wilson are the only candidates really suited to represent us. They are for the people, and have the backing of the people. They are not fronts for any large financial interests.

I certainly hope the people will get out and vote for the best candidates this Tuesday. I am certain the best candidates for the people are Mr. Tromborg and Mr. Wilson.

From A Corner

By Bill Katz

Spring is here and man once more goes forth to conquer the land.

Spade in hand, seed catalog in his back pocket, and a slightly insane gleam in his eyes, the dirt farmer marches out into the back yard. Amidst the rubble of tin cans and weeds he visualizes the day when the land will bring forth plenty.

Thrusting the spade into the ground he promptly feels his arch give way. He has either struck clay or rock. Tenacious fellow that he is he trys again and again. Following an hour's hefty spading he turns up nothing but a weary worm, an old glass bottle and a copy of last year's seed catalog.

About this time the average nature lover decides the horn of plenty is easier tapped with a can opener. His expedition into the realm of gardening is finished.

Spring Struck

But there are some who are sun struck by the Spring weather. They remain on the field. They abandon the shovel in favor of a pick, swear constantly and perspire freely. Three days later the ground is ready—not for seed, but for them.

This is not to discourage the amateur dirt farmer, for there are some who can not be discouraged. They actually manage to break the ground, sow the seed and reap the crop. The only difficulty here is in the nature of the crop.

It seems that there are other contenders besides men for food a la back garden. Once the seed expands, begins to reach the sun, the earwig pops up with bib and tucker for a first class feed. The earwig brings his friends, and they bring their friends. What is left is snubbed even by the birds.

The Slug

Consider, too, the slug. A slow fellow, he managers to show amazing speed in chomping through a row of tomatoes, corn or potatoes. His appetite is not difficult to please.

There are many less noble insections who also show their interest in may's labors.

For the sake of foolish argument, say the garden actually manages to blossom. The farmer, who is about ready for a vacation with a chain gang, gleefully picks off one potato, a half ripe tomato, a lop-sided piece of corn and a tired looking head of lettuce. He rushes into the kitchen, madly waving his evidence of victory over nature.

A patient wife greets him with a condecending smile, a pat on the head and a belief he is fine material for a straight jacket. Once he is out of the kitchen, she flips open the garbage can and disposes of his labors.

A man does better to turn his back on nature, and listen to the voice of spring in the bubbling of Bock beer, not in the fruitless task of planting crops that never grow.

GENERAL PERSHING ELEMENTARY SCHOOL students, if they are good, now will get the chance to watch television right in their own school. This set was donated to the school by retiring officers of the General Pershing PTA, which makes this the only elementary school in the district to boast of a set. ANGELINA looked up from the paper she was reading and her gaze fell upon the peaceful countenance of the baby sleeping in its carriage. A cold fear brought on an involuntary shudder. Her eyes raced up and down the dirty, paper-littered street. But none of the other women who had come out to catch the faint breeze that drifted through the canyon of smudged-brick apartment houses were paying her any attention. They never did. Even here in this cheap back street women had their pride. None, not even Mrs. Quirk who was drunk more often than she was sober, would be seen associating with a woman who had been mixed up in such scandalous business as running off with another woman's husband and then deserting him. Land, she had her nerve coming back to face them all.

Only that ash blonde woman who had last week moved into No. 10 Whitaker street ever talked to Angelina. Her name was Mrs. Turner, and remembering her Angelina shuddered again. She glanced once more at the headlines, "Frantic Mother of Kidnaped Baby Taken to Sanitarium." There was the picture of the baby. Angelina, staring wide-eyed at the sweet little face, shifted her gaze again to the baby in the carriage.

Gradually a sort of clarity crept into her sluggish brain—a brain that had been sluggish ever since Jim Venn had deserted her after she had run off with him. They thought it was she who had deserted Jim. But it wasn't. She had come back because there was nowhere else to go. She didn't try to explain. She loved Jim. She wanted him, wanted a home and babies—but they would never understand that. They were mothers, but they'd never understand.

It was three days after her return that Mrs. Turner knocked at her door. "Oh, I know it's asking a great favor. But my mother, poor dear, is sick unto death. I simply must go to her . . . No place to leave my baby . . . if you only would care for her for a week . . . only too glad to pay you . . ."

Angelina needed money. She hadn't been able to get her old job back. She loved babies. It would be no trouble at all. "But—aren't you afraid—don't you hate to go off and leave it—with a stranger for so long?"

"Oh, I'm not afraid. There'll be others nearby."

"THERE'LL be others nearby."

The sentence repeated itself in Angelina's mind. She knew now. It was clear. So very clear. She thought of the frantic mother, of police and detectives scouring the city. Her eyes fled to the sidewalk again. As far as she could see in both directions mothers with their offspring were sitting on steps and curbstones and buttresses. Hundreds of them. No one would ever think of looking here for a stolen baby.

She read through the newspaper article. Negotiations were in progress for a ransom. The trail was hot. Fear was expressed for the baby's safety even though the money were paid. Angelina remembered other kidnapings — babies found dead. She thought of the frantic mother who had been taken to the sanitarium.

A policeman rounded a corner and came leisurely down the street.

"There'll be others nearby." It was clear now. Others were watching. The canyon walls that were apartment houses had eyes. Eyes were watching her; behind the eyes were guns. They knew sooner or later she would understand. They had warned her, threatened her. The baby was in her charge. Sooner or later Mrs. Turner would come back to take the child and hand her some money—if she had sense enough to keep her head.

They must have understood her position. She was socially ostracised. Money was the only thing with which she could reclaim her self-esteem. She couldn't afford another scandal. They were staking everything on that. Clever of them. And if she didn't have sense enough to keep her head—"there'll be others nearby."

The policeman was half a block away.

. . . There would be money. Plenty of money. She'd have to admit nothing. She could go away. She would have enough to keep her comfortable always.

The policeman was almost abreast of her. She rose, casually stepping away from the carriage The policeman stopped. His gaze had fallen on her face. He had never seen a face so white, eyes so wild and staring.

"Anything wrong, ma'm? Look here, you're sick . . ."

She was clutching at his sleeve . . . "The Vaughn baby—it's in that carriage. They gave it to me to keep because—"

The shots were dull, flat things, coming from high up. Faint blue smoke hung on the air a moment and then was whisked away by the almost imperceptible breeze. Far, far away Angelina heard the shrill of police whistles, more shots, hoarse shoutings, the thud of feet. The sounds grew dimmer. A faint smile flicked across her lips. She was thinking of the frantic mother.

KILL THE KILLER

Cancer is the second most important killer of our people. It is estimated that 22,000,000 Americans now alive eventually will die of this disease.

Yet, in these days of multi-billion dollar Federal budgets, it is interesting to note that our national government spends less than $10,000,000 a year for research into cancer's causes and cures.

The annual amount spent on cancer research by all agencies, public and private, is considerably below what the women of America spend for nail polish alone!

The American Cancer Society is giving leadership to the fight against cancer, not only with an extensive program of research, but with programs of education and service which help to save many lives.

The lives it saves tomorrow may belong to us or to those we love. The annual fund raising appeal of the Society is deserving of our generous response.

Scripture Lesson, I Peter 2:19-25.

In these verses we see Christ not only giving us an example to imitate, but also, through his death on the cross, making provision for our redemption; and by changing our lives, making it possible for us to live differently—even in ways well pleasing to God.

The example He left us, with the injunction to "follow in His steps," might well afford us a challenge to follow Him day by day throughout this Holy Week and Eastertide—and afterword!

Red Cross Needs Disaster Workers

Persons who are qualified and able to be sent to disaster scenes as paid Red Cross personnel are requested to register with the local chapter at 1449 Bellevue avenue, Burlingame.

A background of social work or any experience which would fit them to deal with people under disaster conditions, is necessary. Work would embrace dealing with people in mass shelters, with feeding and clothing these people, with informations and registration, etc. Registrants for these jobs will be given a twelve hour course in disaster training by qualified persons from Pacific Area Red Cross. The national organization has requested the local chapter to secure a list of available workers in conjunction with plans which are being made to handle flood conditions which may result from the record snow pack in the Sierra.

National Red Cross has already planned with 41 chapters located in districts most likely to be affected by the floods. Plans include coordinating with government, securing of warehouses, other facilities, etc. In Marysville, Sacramento and Fresno large depots have been established for supply and distribution centers and administrative headquarters for the entire operation have been arranged for at the Fair Grounds in Sacramento. Also, plans have been completed for securing any additional necessary supplies on a national basis.

DEAR PARENTS
By Jane Keith

Last week I telephoned a Mr. Joe Verducci, resident of Westlake and presently running for a seat on the Daly City council, to ask him why he was running and what was HIS platform. . . That call was made at the request of many friends and neighbors who feel that Westlake not only needs, but DESERVES a really representative resident to take part in our city government!

After talking to "Joe" Verducci —and later interviewing him in person—I honestly feel that he is the man for the job. Not to do a job for Westlake—or any particular section of our town, but FOR THE TOWN AS A WHOLE. In fact, I feel it would be impossible for him to work on any other basis. After all, he was born and reared in Daly City long before "sectionalism" was thought of here . . . He knows the town! But, better still, he loves it!

"Mr. Verducci," I asked him point blank, "Now that you've turned politician you must have a platform. Could you tell me what it is?"

"Correction there, Mrs. Keith!" he answered right back. "I'm no politician! I'm a citizen who wants to do a citizen's job! Do I have to have a platform for that?" And the tone in his voice made me feel like a "half wit" instead of a "half back" carrying the ball.

"Well, Mr. Verducci, you know they say politics is a dirty job! Now, if you're not a politician—do you realize what you're getting into? Do you feel that you, personally, can do much to solve some of the problems now bothering people in Daly City?"

"Well, Mrs. Keith," he answered slowly, but with a grin, "as you know, I have been a football coach . . . and your question reminds me of the way I felt at alumni meetings before football season opened. There I stood with everyone's eyes on ME, the new coach, and the eyes all looked different. They all asked the SAME QUESTION, though—"

"'Joe,' they asked, 'are you going to win every game this season?'"

"The answer," he continued, "is maybe yes—if the team works as a unit, and a sure NO if it doesn't!"

"You mean, then, that you would not oppose the other members of the council even though you felt them to be wrong? Now don't misunderstand me, but we need a fighter for John Doe on that council—not just a 'listening citizen' . . . With only five members to represent a population of 19,000 the people have to be sure you can 'take it' and 'dish it out'! —according to their recipes!"

"That 'according to THEIR recipes' sounds like someone had a bone the council wouldn't 'pick'" he laughed, "But all kidding aside —the recipes of the people are the only ones a councilman SHOULD follow. I was brought up to believe those so-called 'recipes' add up to democracy—and I'll oppose anyone or anybody who tries to add them differently!"

"What is your definition of city council's job, Mr. Verducci? You seem to have the right general principales, but let's be a little more specific. . . . Do you believe in not only appointing committees, BUT TAKING THEIR SUGGESTIONS SERIOUSLY?"

"Certainly I believe in appointing committees—and appointing them would certainly be wasted effort if you didn't take their suggestions seriously. In my work, I have three assistant coaches—and I give them plenty of authority and responsibility. If I didn't, the team and my job would suffer. Spread yourself too thin and you get nowhere—fast!"

"Then you believe the council's job is what?"

"Well, council members are—and should be—'lay people.' Their job, it seems to me, is to formulate broad policies and then get specialists to carry those policies through. Their job is to keep informed and receptive to WHAT THE PEOPLE WANT—and then to do the best job possible for the people."

"Do you have any statements you wish to make about specific town problems—such as the paving of Hilside, the War Memorial Building, and 'where did the money go?'"

"I want to see that Memorial Building completed and the parks open for business and the sooner the better. I'm all for bigger and better recreation facilities and supervision here. . . As to the other things you mentioned—I have nothing to say because I am not in possession of the full facts! If the people want me as a councilman, however, I will guarantee a full investigation of their problems or questions and will work to their solution. Right now I just don't know about all of these 'problem questions' and feel that they are secondary to my more basic qualifications for councilman."

Well, Dear Parents, I hope you have gotten the same feeling for Joe Verducci through this interview that I did. Frankly, I feel we need a man who admits he is not in possession of all the answers, but is willing to seek those answers in a democratic way. He may listen for some time—and he may make mistakes—but a man so well grounded in the foundamentals of "what makes democracy tick"—will not fail us.

I say, Joe Verducci is a man we need for a bigger and better Daly City!

Emergency Treatment Saves Poisoned Tots

Two Daly City children found drinking arsenic-laden rat poison were rushed to Junipero Serra hospital March 27 for immediate treatment.

The children are three-year-old Phyllis Chiosso, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Chiosso, 935 Foothill drive, Colma; and Gail Land, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alec Ginden Land, 947 Foothill drive.

Mrs. Chiosso found the children playing with the rat poison bottle and rushed Phyllis to the hospital. She was unaware that Gail, also three years old, had drunk any of the bottle's contents.

At the hospital, Dr. L. A. Drees used a stomach pump on Phyllis and notified the Broadmoor police. Officer Dan Tannehill picked up Gail and took her to the hospital, where the stomach pump disclosed that she too had taken some of the poison.

The children were returned home, where Officer Ray Savage administered egg white and milk to the children to forestall any after effects.

Both are doing well.

KEEP SPEED LOW

Retiring Head Of CCPT Continues To Keep Always On Go

Here's Report On Recent Activities

Most housewives with three busy children feel that several meetings a month could become a chore. Yet Mrs. Sirex of San Carlos, retiring president of Seventeenth District California Congress of Parents and Teachers, often has had several meetings a day. By plane, train, automobile, telephone or the mails she has kept in constant touch with the PTA organization.

From the district convention in Redwood City on March 20, Mrs. Sirex drove to Asilomar for the three-day California County school superintendents' annual spring conference on educational services. With PTA people of other districts Mrs. Sirex contributed resource information to the various sections.

In San Francisco Tuesday evening, March 25, the official presentation of a certificate of merit for program content was made to "Science In Action" on KGO-TV by Mrs. Sirex. The award went to directors of the California Academy of Sciences, the TV production staff, and the sponsors, for an exceptional contribution to educational TV programs.

Affiliated education workshops attended by Mrs. Sirex in the past year were the California Association of School Admiinstrators meet in San Jose; school redistricting and reassessment sessions; county school tours and lecture series at San Mateo Junior College; Teaches' Institute; workshops on Community Leadership at Stanford, On Human Relationships in San Mateo, extension and legistlation by CCPT officers; and on "Women's Inhumanity to Women" at Mills College.

Outstanding in 1950-1952 has been the activity of the district extension department, with a membership climb of 8,102, and 12 new local associations, which involved Mrs. Sirex in 17 organization meetings this last year alone. In February, 1952, she accepted invitations to 20 unit founders day meetings. Many times she was the speaker.

For the district Mrs. Sirex has been present at all state board meetings and conventions, district executive and monthly business and departmental sessions, and 19 for directors and extra committees; she has opened and/or participated in parent education, parliamentary procedure, traffic safety, and founders day workshops, and moderated a tax exemption open forum.

Additional events that demanded official attendance were the dedication of El Portal school, judging the county "spelling bee" finals, staffing the PTA booth at the state fair, social security information meeting, and interviews by Stanford students for thesis studies. Organizations with which Mrs. Sirex cooperated otherwise were the Tuberculosis and Health association, the Red Cross, Council of Social Agencies, March of Mothers, Visiting Nurses Association, and the Crippled Children's Society.

Other board members retiring in May 1952 are Mrs. H. P. Eder of Burlingame, first vice-president, Mrs. Faun Tuska of Burlingame, director of extension, Mrs. Erwin Schmidt of San Bruno, director of public welfare, Mrs. Edward Styskel of Burlingame, financial secretary, Miss Natalie Lipman of Burlingame, auditor, and Mrs. J. M. Foley of San Mateo, parliamentarian.

Counties Invited To Exhibit At SF

The municipal Regional Service Committee announced this week northern and central California counties are invited to exhibit their wares in the Bay city. Thomas A. Brooks, Chief Administrative Officer, is chairman of the Committee which is an official agency of the city government.

Through arrangements made with the San Francisco Examiner, the Committee said counties would have "an unparalleled opporunity to display their agricultural, industrial, tourist, financial, cultural and educational advantages without cost beyond that of preparation and shipment of the exhibit to San Francisco, and its return."

Designed to last at least two weeks, the exhibits may be installed in one of three large windows at the corner of Third and Market streets, one of the busiest pedestrian traffic corners in the city, to be viewed by thousands of San Franciscans and visitors.

Complete details concerning the offer may be obtained from the Regional Service Committee, 1220 Hearst building, San Francisco 3, telephone EXbrook 2-2838.

Man Elected Head Of PTA for 1st Time

By MRS. JOSEPH ARROYOS

This year the installation of new officers at General Pershing school marks a turning point for the PTA, as this is the first time in 35 years that a "Mr." has ever taken over the duties of president in Jefferson district. William Tergis, school teacher at General Pershing, was installed as president along with the other new officers at the evening meeting held Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

Mrs. J. B. Mills, Seventeenth District counselor for General Pershing, installed the following: William Tergis, president; Mrs. Hugh Smith, vice-president; Miss Winifred McGrath, honorary vice-president; Mrs. Kenneth Ryan, recording secretary; Mrs. George Day, financial secretary; Mrs. Clarence Sciaroni, treasurer; Mrs. Robert Keith, corresponding secretary; Mrs. G. L. Naylor, historian; Mrs. Walter Atkins, auditor; and Mrs. F. J. Prisco, parliamentarian.

General Pershing was honored by having as guests H. Z. Wiebel, superintendent of Jefferson elementary school, and Mrs. H. Z. Wiebel; Mrs. Clydean Caruthers, Woodrow Wilson president; Mrs. Foriest Cunningham, president elect; Mrs. John Wiesner, Colma president; Mrs. Sanford Vickers, Colma president elect; Miss Alfia Belli, speech teacher; Mrs. William Cheatham, school board; Mrs. John Sorensen, 17th district chairman; Mrs. Lyal Ingersoll, 17th district chairman; Mrs. A. W. Lauffenburger, Seventeenth editor; Mr. Harry Reidi, retired caretaker for General Pershing school; Mrs. Howard Dunbar, Westlake president and Mrs. Fred Kruse, Westlake vice-president.

The executive board recommended at its meeting that a letter be sent to the board of education approving the request for the tax election to provide more money for the operation of schools. At Tuesday's meeting H. Z. Wiebel, superintendent of Jefferson elementary schools, spoke on this matter, emphasizing the need for the higher tax rate for the Jefferson district so badly needed to operate schools, also the need for more nurses and buying of equipment. This vote will come up May 16, and it is hoped that all voters will give this their attention.

Mrs. F. J. Prisco announced the cancer drive April 17 from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m., and volunteering to make appeals are Mrs. Robert Keith, Mrs. F. J. Prisco, Mrs. Walter Atkins, Mrs. Pat Corner, Mrs. George Day and Mrs. L. E. Yule. Those wishing to make any contribution are asked to keep their porch light burning.

The musical program was an accordian solo by Frank J. Prisco, Jr.; Janice Keith did a tap dance; Bruce Wagner played the guitar; and the Perry sisters did a hula dance.

Mrs. Dora Barker, retired teacher, was awarded the life membership but was unable to attend the meeting to accept this honor.

Incoming president William Tergis was presented a pin and a gift by Mrs. F. J. Prisco. Mrs. F. J. Prisco, outgoing president, was given a service pin by Mrs. A. W. Lauffenburger. A television lamp, a black purse and a jewel case was given by the unit in appreciation for her work this past year.

William Tergis, 1952-1953, president, accepted the gavel from Mrs. F. J. Prisco, thanked Mrs. J. B. Mills, presented her with a gift and the meeting was adjourned.

Tergis' class will receive the attendance award for having the most parents present at the meeting.

$90,560 DONATED TO COUNTY RED CROSS

As of March 28, the amount donated to the San Mateo county chapter, American Red Cross, in its 1952 fund campaign, stood at $90,560. Because of the tornado disaster in the South, $5,100 was added to the original 1952 quota of 135,000, making a new total of $140,100. The national quota has been raised from eighty five million to ninety million dollars.

Mrs. Harry Durand, fund chairman for the local chapter, has announced that the drive has been extended to April 19. All workers are urged to try to finish solicitation on or before that date. It is absolutely imperative that the Red Cross quota be met this year, both locally and nationally.

Fifth Try Brings Trophy

Silvestri Wins City Golf Meet

Bob Sivlestri, Colma tavern keeper and bocci ball impresario, finally made the grade. Four times a defeated finalist in the San Francisco City Golf Championship, Silvestri took home the perpetual trophy Sunday after defeating Vern Callison of Sacramento 2 and 1 at Harding Park.

This was Silvestri's fifth final in the last seven years. Sunday's match looked like another frustrating repeater for a time, when he was down after 18 holes and down again after 27.

His comeback, after being one down through 27 holes, was a tense struggle. In the afternoon, however, he was a marksman with a perfect bead by closing out with two birdies on long puts and nearly holing a chip shot.

It has been noted by experts in the last that Silvestri's weakness has been his putting. Sunday was a different story. His putting was excellent, and on the 32nd and 33rd he dropped two long ones, which sent him one up. On the 35th he went two up when Callison hooked toward the lake and needed a safety to reach the green in three. Silvestri made par, to stay two up. The 35th was halved in pars after Callison had been trapped.

The Colma swinger knocked over some tough competition this year to reach the finals. He beat Warren Dailey of Stanford; Bob Rosburg, ex-northern California champ; Walt Gilliam, ex-California State finalist; Fred Brown, the new northern California intercollegiate king; and Venturi, the California State champ.

After a streak of bad luck in the morning round, Silvestri found himself one down at the intermission, but came back in the afternoon session with some excellent golf, to win, 2 and 1.

Hackers' Club Tourney Scheduled For April 26

Northern California's least exclusive golf club, The Hackers' Club, is preparing for its second anual tournament of duffers at the Sonoma golf course starting April 26.

Organized last year to provide tournament golf for the "over-90" shooters, the club is headed by J. B. Benjamin of San Francisco. Two hundred Hackers toured the Sonoma course in the 1951 tourney. The winning 18-hole blind bogey score was a soaring 134.

Chairman Benjamin has invited all interested Daly City organizations and individuals to join the club by contacting tournament headquarters, 727 Irving street, San Francisco, before April 16. He stated that the better golfers will meet in a championship flight, but that the duffers' blind bogey division is the top attraction.

Annual "dues" for the club consist of the tourney's $1 entry fee. All profits will go to the Hanna Center for Boys at Sonoma.

Central Club Holds Keg League Lead

Maintaining its two-game lead over the rest of the Merchants Bowling league, the Central Club squad goes into the last week of play a slight favorite to cap the championship.

Hot on their heels, though, are Thur Meat Co. and the Foresters, tied up with 43-38 each.

The College Hill kegglers, formerly in the number two spot, were knocked out of the running, dropping three straight last week to the Daly City Lions.

Top games last week were shot by George Curry of Thur Meat, 212; Bill Watson of Central Club, 211; and Grant Williams of the Daly City Lions, 211.

High series rollers were Watson, with a 578, and Williams, who shot a 562.

Merchants league play ends next week, with local bowlers already looking forward to Sept. 16, when the Daly City-Colma Winter league opens at Brentwood Bowl, with a total of 16 teams competing.

Indians Set New Mile Relay Record In El Cerrito Meet

San Mateo's Mark Falls To "B" Team

Jefferson's track coach, Ernest Ribera, took 12 men to the El Cerrito relays last Saturday and brought back a trophy and a new record.

His class B (130 lb.) mile relay team chopped three tenths off the 3:44.5 mark established by San Mateo.

Anchorman Al Schenone strode through his 440-yard share of the mile in a fast 53.5. Del Haman, Dave Coates, and Jerry Yarborough did their bit at an average time of 56 seconds per man.

Competing with 32 other schools in the meet, the Indians picked up a third place in the class B 880-yard relays, with Wayne Webb, Hamann, Yarborough, and Schenone passing the baton.

Friday, the preceding day, found the 130-pounders holding up Jefferson's end of a three-way meet with Sequoia and San Jose, marking up a score of 47½ to Sequoia's 42½, to San Jose's 28.

The varsity and C squad both took third, with Sequoia winning the varsity division and San Jose taking the C's (120 lb.).

Strong on the cinderpath but weak in the field events, Coach Ribera's squad will meet South City tomorrow, April 4, at 3:15 p.m.

Sartomen Dump Eagles; Meet Les Vogel Next

Despite the recent loss of three of their best men, Sarto AC baseballers boomed their way 12-6 through last Sunday's game with the S. F. Blue Eagles.

Centerfielder Bob Pfaender, catcher Ben Parodi, and right fielder Schubeck picked up two each to set the pace for what proved to be a near rout.

Pitchers were Bill Rainey and Lon DeLuzzi.

The Sartomen tangle next with Les Vogel Chevrolet. The game starts at 2 p.m. Sunday, April 4, at Marchbank field.

Jeffs Play Host To Willow Glen Club For Tomorrow Afternoon's PAL Play

The Jefferson high school Indians, Peninsula Athletic League champs for the past two years, clash tomorrow, April 4, with Willow Glen in a game to be played on the Jeff diamond.

After wining four, losing five of their pre-season practice games, the Jeffs bowed 4-1 to Palo Alto in last Friday's league opener.

The single run came in the fifth, when second baseman Dick Tranthom walked, then came home on a fielder's choice.

Tranthom, a .125 hitter, and first baseman Larry Blanchard both picked up runs and failed to score. Starting pitcher was Don Delbon, moved up from the frosh squad, where he threw six one-hitters last year.

Jefferson goes into tomorrow's game an underdog, Willow Glen having won its first league game last week from Palo Alto, 1-0.

Five members of Coach Glenn South's championship team of last year failed to return, he reports. "The core of our team was taken," says South. "Right now, we're just in the process of rebuilding."

"I have pretty high hopes for them, though. If we can just get into the play-offs, anything can happen."

Hardest loss to Coach South was that of four pitchers, Eddie Cereghino, Chuck Donley, Larry Jenkins and Jim Hatchel. Cereghino went to the New York Yankees, Donley to the Seals, Jenkins to the Pittsburg Pirates and Hatchel to the U. S. Navy.

Returning members of last year's squad include third baseman Don Wilson, center fielder Mario Leveroni, catcher Bryan McMahon, and left fielder Izzy Galente. They represent the main batting strength of the club, not noted for its power at the plate.

At present, Leveroni is hitting .526, and McMahon .400. From there the bottom drops out of the Jeff's batting power, with three men hitting .125.

Replacing the four lost hurlers, South has Delbon, Joe Lewkowitz, and Chuck Carroll. All were moved up from last year's scrub team, and all are right-handers.

Despite starting their PAL series with "the worst game we've played yet this year," South is optimistic. With nine league games yet to be played, he still has hopes of garnering his third consecutive championship.

Soft Ball League Teams Are Active

The grammar school soft ball league went into high gear last Saturday at Marchbanks. Eight teams representing the Colma school and OLPH clashed on the diamond. In four well played games Colma Tigers, Colma Scavengers, the Colma Bat Busters, and OLPH "A" teams emerged the victors.

Highlight of the Saturday morning contests came as the Colma Dragons collided with OLPH's "A" team. This game was not decided until the final out of the final inning. With two away, a home run by Duncan in the last innig iced the contest for OLPH, 13-12. Heavy hitting by Brandt, Waldo, and Sutter accounted for the victory, while Funkhoser, Salvador, and Klianser played fine ball for the defeated Dragons.

In the other "A" league game the Bat Busters swamped the Colma Pirates, 26-1. Heavy hitting by Grubb, Gruenwald, and Bailey led the fearsome Bat Busters onslaught. The Pirates were helpless until the final frame when Faust crossed the plate to give the Pirates their lone run.

Competition in the "B" league was a bit stiffer. The Tigers, in a well played ball game, squeezed by the Colma Yankees, 12-5. Mack, Davis and Donham sparked the Tigers victory as Ranchtare, Mackey and Victorino played good ball for the Yankees.

In another "B" league contest the strong Colma Scavengers shut out the Colma Indians, 19-0. Such boys as Masoni, Ordioney, Duncan, Rocci, and Beaton make the Scavenger team the most feared in the "B" league.

At Ripe Old Age Of 29 Brown Is Not Quite Ready For Retirement

After a layoff of nearly two years, Daly City's ace tennis player, Tom Brown, is out to show the kids that an old man of 29 isn't exactly washed up.

And, to date, Brown has been doing quite well, thank you. A couple of weeks ago Brown went to LaJolla, knocked over such ranking players as Art Larson and Ted Schroeder, and walked off with the championship.

Right now Brown is competing in the Bay Counties Tournament, in which he is top seeded. Saturday he took his first round match easily, then went on Sunday to defeat Ralph Gish, of the Olympic Club, 6-2, 4-6, 6-2, to enter the quarter finals. Saturday he is scheduled to play Ellis Slack, of Palo Alto.

Sunday, Brown teamed with Harry Lakas in men's doubles play to defeat Herschel Hyde and Cliff Mayne, 6-3, 6-1.

The young lawyer has had quite a record in the tennis world during the past years. Starting his competitive work in the city playground tournament in San Francisco in 1934, Brown has steadily worked his way up to become one of the top ranking players in the country.

In 1946 Brown went to Wimbelton in England, along with Jack Kramer, as U. S. representatives—and the two came out with the world's doubles championship. Also in 1946 he was runner-up to Kramer in the National Singles Championship, and in late 1946 was a member of the Daivs Cup team which played in Australia.

In 1947 Brown was again runner-up to Jack Kramer, for the world's singles championship.

Then Brown attended the University of California law school at Boalt Hall, to return to tennis in 1950 as a member of the U. S. Davis Cup team. The team played Australia at Forest Hills, and Brown was the only singles winner for the U. S.

Brown, now associated with the Daly City law firm of Fahey, Castagnetto and Gallen, isn't sure what his future in tennis will be, but if he shows up well in tournaments throughout the northern part of the state in the next few months, he might enter the Forest Hills national championship play this year.

After that, who knows? One thing Tom is sure of. He isn't quite through with tennis yet.

Local Racing Car Takes First Spot At San Jose

The Tanforan Special, racing car sponsored by the Tanforan Flower Shop, of Daly City, has been burning up the tracks during recent weeks.

Sunday Johnny Boyd, driver, took the car tothe San Jose track and walked off with the main event there. Boyd topped all drivers in the Bay Cities Racing Association last year.

Two weeks ago the special raced in the Cow Palace, before 6,500 spectators, and won the trophy dash, coming in second in the main event.

Arline Severson will be seen in the part of the brassy ex-chorine made famous by Judy Holliday. In the leading man's role opposite her will be Bob Day, as the through wartime profiteering.

This comedy was the outstanding laugh-provider of the postwar Broadway stage, running continuously in New York for nearly four years.

Gas and electricity are cheap in California!

Seagoing ships move 1½ million tons of cargo a year through the inland Port of Stockton

Take STOCKTON for example:

Typical residential gas and electric bill

In Stockton $8.66

In all U.S. cities of similar size* . . $15.62

*Average for the 18 U.S. cities outside California between 70,000 and 75,000 population. Based on a typical use of 100 kilowatt hours and 100 therms of gas per month.

P.G. and E. home rates are far below U.S. average!

The cost of living has nearly doubled since 1940, but P. G. and E. domestic rates are actually lower than they were then! Nothing else you buy costs so little—does so much. Let P. G. and E.'s bargain gas and electricity do more of your work, bring you more of life's comforts.

Mooney-Verducci Feel They're Best For City Council

Thank Residents For Support

"We feel that we have the best-qualified candidates as well as the best program, and now it is up to the voters to go to the polls next Tuesday and select their candidates for City Council."

This was the announcement from campaign headquarters of Councilman Ed Mooney and Ed Verducci today as the race for two seats on the Daly City Council was nearing a close.

Thank Supporters

Thanking the hundreds of individuals and groups who have rallied to their support, Mooney and Verducci reiterated their pledge to accomplish a program of progress for the good of all sections of the city, if elected.

A Building Engineer for the S. F. Stock Exchange, Mooney is a pioneer resident and resides with his wife at 263 Crocker avenue. He has two daughters, Muriel and Anita, both now married, who attended local schools.

Good Record

It was during Mooney's current term of office that a score of civic improvements have been accomplished, and voters were expected to return him to office on the basis of this record.

Joe Verducci, son of an old Daly City family, now lives at 118 Wilshire avenue with his wife and three children. Known widely as a former U. C. football quarterback, Verducci has served as head coach at St. Mary's and is at present athletic director at S. F. State College.

Verducci, who expects to put on a sports program on a Television network next summer, is widely respected for his knowledge of recreation programs, and has pledged himself to accomplishing a recreation program adequate to serve all persons in all sections of the City.

Mooney and Verducci have drawn strong support from voters in all sections of the city.

Battye Offers Positive Program

Asks Incumbent Several Questions

Melford D. Battye, candidate for Daly City Treasurer in the coming election on April 8, 1952, made the following closing statement of his campaign:

I would like to give to the voters of Daly City a brief resume of what has taken place during the past few weeks in the campaign for City Treasurer, so that there will be no mistakes as to who suggested what and why I am justified in seeking the office of City Treasurer.

My incumbent opponent, in his statement last week, spoke of some politicians using "innuendos" and trying to instill politics into the Treasurer's office. Have I been guilty of that, by stating during the past weeks that I do not go along with the incumbent's attitude and thoughts, made in his opening statement, that his work is confined only to his duties and that I believe no public official just doing his job is enough, that he must do his utmost to benefit his constituants and to better his community—that I believe the status of the city's funds should be published at least quarterly so that the people will also be in the know so far as their city finances are concerned—that if elected I will take the attitude that a mandate by the people has been issued in favor of publishing the status of the city's funds at least quarterly—that my four years practical experience in city government, my background of business experience and my civic pride in the desire to serve my city qualify me for the Treasurer's office?

I don't think the above statements are deserving of the charges of using "innuendos" and trying to instill politics into the Treasurer's office. In fact, by his own statement the incumbent is guilty of his own charge.

May I take this opportunity to thank my many friends, business associates and acquantances for their good wishes and help during this, my campaign for City Treasurer. I ask the people of Daly City to vote for Melford D. Battye for City Treasurer, so that I may serve you and willingly take on the added responsibility of keeping you posted on your city's financial affairs.

All candidates and the public have been invited to the Battye-Panella Insurance Office at 6253 Mission street, Daly City, for election returns, Tuesday April 8, 1952, from 8 p.m. until we know the winners.

$250 Reward Offered In Sign Destroying Episode

Judge Thomas L. Bocci, Jr., today stated he is prepared to offer a reward of $250.00 for the apprehension and conviction of anyone found tearing down or mutilating either his campaign signs or those of his opponents.

Over the past several days it has come to the attention of Judge Bocci, who is a candidate for Municipal Judge in the June primaries, that many of his political signs and posters have been torn down and mutilated.

In an interview with the press, Judge Bocci noted, "that apparently this is a repetition of the same conduct that took place two years ago when I was a candidate for the office of Judge. At that time my campaign signs were smeared with red paint. Unquestionably, such conduct is the act of hoodlums and ruffians who are irresponsible and totally without moral standards."

Judge Bocci also noted from a reading of a press release by his opponent that many of his signs were also torn and mutilated. "Whether the posters be mine or those of my opponent, is unimportant. Rather the perpetration of such acts is paramount, since such conduct reflects on the integrity of our American people and particularly our system of government," so stated Judge Bocci.

Dennis & Gross Give Local Voters The "Real Facts"

Candidates Ask Incumbent Questions

Edward J. Dennis and Henry Gross today made their final pre-election statement of facts to the voters of all Daly City:

"We are definitely not controlled, and therefore can vote in public session as individuals and not as puppets. Can the incumbent and the San Francisco football teacher make that statement?

"We did not engage any full time expensively paid campaign manager, but instead wrote our own publicity. Can the incumbent and the San Francisco football teacher make that statement?

"We did not rent space to put our names on expensive bill boards as big corporations always do. Can the incumbent and his San Francisco football teacher make that statement?

We have made no promises to any individual or groups of individuals just to exploit unearned votes. Can the incumbent or the San Francisco football teacher make that statement?

"We presented in writing a full history report of our background and answered all questions requested by the A. F. of L. Labor League for Political Education of San Mateo County which is representative of all A. F. of L. organizations in this area. Can the incumbent and the San Francisco football teacher make that statement?

"We certainly do not approve of the gardener who has a contract with the City of Daly City (and incidentally, who recently received a raise) that he should be seen nailing up numerous large signs for any council candidates. Can the incumbent and the San Francisco football teacher make that statement?

The Voters Will Decide

"On election day, April 8, Daly City voters will make a very important decision that will mean a lot to each individual's pocketbook for the next four years. Now that the campaign is about over, the incumbent and his innocent running mate still refuse to make any statements regarding completion of the $300,000 Community Center Building, the $60,000 retarded extension of Brunswick Street through solid rock, the incumbent's leadership of the Police Department during the last four years, or why $26,000 was taken out of the General Fund to install lighting fixtures in the uncompleted Community Center Building.

Wheeler Blasts Lack Of Facts By Mooney-Verducci

Cites Record Of Present Incumbent

George Wheeler, long-time resident of Daly City and one of the two independent candidates for City Councilman next Tuesday, made his final statement in reference to the coming election.

"In previous issues of THE RECORD, I have requested the courtesy of an answer on questions of public policy from the incumbent.

"Instead of stating facts, he and his running mate on his ticket have dealt in generalities and self-praise. Let's look at the record of the last four years.

"Why do they attempt to fool the voters?

"In 1948 Mr. Mooney was appointed Chairman of the Police Commission, Transportation Commission and the Building and Planning Commission.

"We know that under his chairmanship it was necessary that the Sheriff and District Attorney come into our city to clean up the mess accumulated under his administration.

"As the Chairman of the Transportation Commission, what has he done to alleviate the bad conditions that are so familiar to the commuters among us?

"As Chairman of the Building and Planning Committee, the lack of judgment shown in the War Memorial Building construction, the lack of planning in our recreational facilities and the policy of zoning property to benefit the individual rather than the city is apparent to all of us who are interested in the future.

"As one of the two independent candidates soliciting your support, I have stressed facts, not generalities. I earnestly request that you make secure your independence by voting indepenednt."

Local Woman Held On Morals Charge

A 32-year-old Daly City housewife is in county jail here charged with allowing a 16-year-old Jefferson Union high school girl to entertain sailors in her home.

Mrs. Virginia Satori, of 219-C Los Banos avenue, Daly City, was arraigned Wednesday on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

She was arrested by Daly City police and turned over to county Juvenile authorities for investigation. The girl was being held at Hillcrest detention home.

Officials said the girl had been staying at the Satori home after she ran away from her own home March 18.

Both the girl and Mrs. Satori have reportedly admitted orgies took place in the front room of the Satori home and in the bedroom where Mrs. Satori's two children, a seven-year-old boy and an 11-year old girl slept.

The girl told police Mrs. Satori arranged a signal system to alert her and her sailor friends if anyone came to the door.

Thomas Tromborg

Del Wilson

Tromborg-Wilson Favored By People To Win Election

Believe They Can Represent You

Are you interested in city government dedicated to improving the living conditions of you, your family and your neighborhood?

Of course you are, and that is why you will cast a vote Tuesday for the two men you believe best suited to serve you on our city council.

Your fellow citizens, Thomas Tromborg and Del Wilson, hope you will see fit to elect them to these offices of public trust.

These two Daly City businessmen have dedicated their lives to campaigning for the public's welfare. Now they ask you for the support needed to carry their program into action.

Their program is based on your needs. It is not a politician's platform, for it has been worked out by your neighbors, and will be fulfilled by your vote.

Tromborg and Wilson respect your intelligence and judgment. Therefore, they refrain from pointing out the many flaws in the campaign and character of their opponents.

Both men stand on an honest record of private achievement, and a belief that you, the voter, will recognize the true from the false.

This, then, they belief to be true:

TRANSPORTATION—The only lasting, satisfactory answer to Daly City's transportation headache is a private bus line.

RECREATION — Some semblance of order and organization is needed so Daly City's system of parks may be realized. The Community Center must be completed, but only after voters have been given a complete picture of its financial status.

SIGNALS—Signals and stop signs are needed on Daly City's busy streets, especially in Westlake and Mission and Hillside boulevard.

PARKING—Off street parking facilities are needed for all sections of Daly City.

FIRE DEPARTMENT—A new firehouse must be constructed to avoid a 20% increase in local fire insurance rates.

POLICE DEPARTMENT—The police department quarters must be expanded. A police commission, independent of the council, must be appointed to avoid future entanglements.

Selmi Qualified For Treasurer Job

Incumbent Gives Qualifications

In the statement made by my opponent in the previous issue of THE RECORD, he stated that he differs with my attitudes and thoughts.

With that I agree because I believe that the difference lies in the fact that any thoughts expressed by me are my own and are not influenced by anyone. Having encountered, on several occasions, my opponents very active supporter, and whom you might refer to as a perennial politician, doing what was very apparent, research work around the City Hall and the office of THE RECORD, it makes me wonder if my opponent can conscientiously claim the same to be true for himself.

Apparently, the other statements made by my opponent are either attempts to distort the remarks in my previous statement or that he does not clearly understand the work of the City Clerk and the difference in the work of the City Treasurer.

A resume of my civic activities are as follows:

Member of the Daly City Volunteer Fire Department, 12 years.

Chairman of the Board of Fire Commissioners.

President of the Veteran's Firemen Association.

Member of the Daly City Council, 10 years.

Mayor of Daly City, 4 years.

Member of the Advisory Committee of the Selective Service Draft Board, (Appointment by the governor of the State of California.)

Member of the Charter Study Committee for San Mateo County.

Operated my own business for over 20 years.

Treasurer of the City of Daly City, 4 years.

During my term of office as Mayor of Daly City I promoted and campaigned for the acquisition of the following: New City Hal, New Library building, Lincoln Park Playgrounds, Marchbank Park Playgrounds and baseball field, and two modern busses that operated through the center of the residential sections of Daly City.

The inauguration of Clean-Up Week in Daly City.

The inauguration of Supervised recerational activities for children and adults in Daly City.

The inauguration of the May Day Parade and celebration for Daly City (prior to 1938.)

Regarless of what is said by my opponent or his supporters, who remain in the background, the facts shall still remain that I have not had a single complaint against me as your treasurer, that my accomplishments and experiences in civic affairs are much greater than that of my opponent, and that anything that he may say in this issue of THE RECORD canot detract from the worthiness of me being your City Treasurer after election day, April 8, 1952.

Michael DeBernardi

DeBernardi Plugs For Independent Post Office

Thanks Voters For Large Suport

Michael DeBernardi, candidate for the city council, today thanked the scores of residents who have signed a petition he is circulating to get an independent post office in Daly City.

"I believe I have said about enough about my campaign platform. The rest is up to the people. However, in the time between now and the election, and after the election, I wish to serve the public. I can best do this by circulating the post office petition," De Bernardi said.

The young businessman explained the petition calls for:

1. Giving Daly City its own cancellation stamp, and removing the local post office from the jurisdiction of San Francisco.

2. The move in no way entails any expense to the taxpayers.

3. The independent office will aid our businessmen, because of beter service and "free" advertising.

DeBernardi said when the petition is completed he will send it to Senator Knowland, Senator Nixon and to other California congresmen.

"Whether elected, or not, I intend to carry through with this plan."

DeBarnardi gave a back hand slap to the present administration by noting: "Why hasn't our present city council thought of such a measure. It is a small thing, requiring little effort, but it will help the city greatly."

The council candidate said he believed the present administration is run by one man, and it "is high time the people are represented."

"Remember, don't fall for big money advertising. You have seen what it has done in the past. Vote independent, and be assured of true representation," DeBernardi said.

In conclusion, DeBernardi thanked the thousands of residents who have pledged to support him in the coming election.

County Residents Urged To Register For June Primary

The voters' registration committee of San Mateo county today urged citizens here to register before the April 10 deadline in order to qualify for the forthcoming June 3 primary election.

According to information received from the county election offices there are thousands of residents of the county who are ineligible to vote either through recent change of address or due to the fact they have lost their voting status because of failure to cast ballots at past elections.

This year, with San Mateo county gaining one new state office and a congressman of its own, it is important that every citizen take advantage of his voting franchise.

Registration is a simple procedure. Citizens merely fill out a small form with their name, address and party affiliation. If they so choose, citizens may register non-partisan.

Here are registration deputies in the Daly City area: Ernest E. De Rosa, 5 Wellington avenue; Frank W. Kent, 252 Los Banos avenue; Peter J. Markovich, 6454 Mission street; Mrs. Florence K. Marliave ,165 Westdale avenue; Mrs. Helen Vallalba, 115 Crocker avenue; B. C. Ross, city clerk's office, city hall.

Students Attending Many Conferences

Four San Mateo Junior College students recently represented their school at a student government meeting in Salinas. Many junior colleges of the surrounding area took part in the all-day discussion of student problems.

Eleven SMJC coeds will represent the Women's Athletic Association at a conference of the California Athletic Federation of College Women at Asilomar. The meeting will last two days, and will deal with problems of the women's athletic groups.

Ninety students of the college have been named to membership in the college honor society as a result of fine work done in their classes last fall.

Steady progress is being made in rehearsals of "Romeo and Juliet," the term play, under the direction of Robert Brauns. A large student staff is starting work collecting materials for the Shakespearean play, and will also make the costumes.

The college a cappella choir is making plans for its spring programs. The group also will attend the anual Northern California Junior College of Pacific in Stockton. There are 50 students in the choir this semester.

Rapsey, who has served as San Bruno city attorney for 23 years, was chairman of the San Mateo county Republican Central Committee from 1946 to 1950, and is current president of the San Bruno Rotary Club. OPS Violations Grocers Charge

Repeated violations of the law by the office of price stabilization in its controls of the retail food industry of America, was charged today in a joint statement filed with the U. S. Senate by representatives of 125,000 grocers.

Directly contradicting testimony offered to the Senate Banking and Currency Committee by Ellis Arnall, Director of OPS, the Grocers' spokesmen charged Arnall and his associates with "Half-Truths" when they denied that OPS regulations had led to the debasement of meat quality and to trimming practices costly to consumers.

The bristling criticism of OPS came from the country's four largest retail food association: National Association of Retail Grocers, National Association of Food Chains, Cooperative Food Distributors of America, and Super Market Institute.

"In the opinion of the Retail Food Industry," declares the statement filed with the Senate Banking Committee this afternoon, "The OPS has violated both the intent and the letter of many sections of the defense production act. Worst of all, OPS keeps demanding of industry facts with which industry can support its contentions, and yet for its part OPS never produces facts to support any of its disputed regulations."

Teachers Prepare Defense Measures

The first of a series of courses to help San Mateo county school teachers prepare for civil defense emergencies has just opened in Millbrae.

Other school systems that have set dates for the course to begin in their own districts are San Mateo elementary, Redwood City elementary and Laguna Salada. Also applying for the course are Jefferson elementary, San Bruno, Belmont and Ravenswood.

The first three meetings provide a background for planning for the safety of school children and for protecting school facilities.

At the request of county manager E. R. Stallings, a fourth meeting has been added. Thsi will prepare administrators to operate their schools as public mass care shelters, should this become necessary following an emergency.

The course has been developed by cooperative action of County Superintendent of Schools James R. Tormey and San Mateo Junior College.

McGuffin States Election Platform

San Bruno Man Supervisor Candidate

With the retirement of Thomas L. Hickey from the Board of Supervisors, I have answered the urge of many friends to become a candidate for that post.

After many years of careful study of the functions of Municipal, County and State Legislative bodies, together with the experience gained from the four years just ending as city councilman, part of which as Mayor of the City of San Bruno, I feel qualified to serve the people in that capacity.

I believe the man elected to serve the people of this county on the board should be a man of vision, integrity and energy, for there is much to be done.

Situated as we are, we have the ultimate potential of becoming one of the most prosperous and thriving counties in the land.

I believe the Board of Supervisors should encourage not only Industry, but that they should work in harmony with builders and developers of residential areas in the uninhabited as well as the unincorporated districts of the county.

My Record

My record as city councilman of the City of San Bruno will show that I have at all times worked toward the settlement of all issues before the board in an honest and unbiased manner.

That I have fought for the adjustment of salaries of employees that they may be in keeping with the conditions of our times. It is essential that all employees of any government are contented, if we are to expect the maximum in service to the people.

I am 51 years of age, born in Kansas City, Missouri and educated in that community; resided in California for the past 28 years, in San Mateo county since 1951.

I am in the real estate and insurance business, which offers me the opportunity to cover the entime county; Vice President of the North San Mateo County Board of Realtors, past president of the San Bruno Lions Club, a member of the Bay Area Rapid Transit Committee.

With my wife, Mildred, and 8-year-old son Denis, I reside at 844 Hensley avenue, San Bruno.

Cancer Article Is In 'Today's Women'

A complete article on "Self-Examination for Breast Cancer" appears in "Today's Woman" for April, published today, Mrs. E. Byrne, a spokesman for the San Mateo county branch of the American Cancer Society announced. "This is an article every woman should read," the local American Cancer Society leader declared.

An introductory note by Charles S. Cameron, M.D., American Cancer Society medical and scientific director declares, "Cancer of the breast is the commonest form of cancer in women, regardless of age. Each year it causes the death of nearly 20,000 women. Because most of the patients with breast cancer discover the lump themselves — accidentally — we firmly believe that most of these deaths would be preventable if the practice of self-examination of the breasts became widespread."

In "Today's Woman," the article emphasizes the value of the film "Breast Self-Examination." Showing of the film may be arranged locally by calling JU. 7-5376 or JU. 7-5586.

Enforce Deadline On GI Insurance Eligibility

Veterans of the Korean war must apply for their government life insurance within 120 days of discharge or they will become ineligible, says Floyd D. Granger, veterans service officer for San Mateo county.

However, Granger added, veterans with a service-connected disability of 10 per cent or more have one year's grace following their discharge in which they are still eligible for the low-cost government insurance.

He urged veterans to inquire about their insurance privileges and apply for coverage well in advance of the 120-day deadline.

Men going into active service, said Granger, can also obtain information on government life insurance and indemnity coverage at the Veterans Service office, Courthouse, Redwood City.

Vocational Course Possible In Naval Training Programs

The Navy assures qualified high school graduates of a course in one of its many vocational schools upon completion of their basic recruit training. In addition to basic submarine and airman schools, there are over 30 other schools available.

Suppose you're interested in aviation. If you're a high school graduate it's simple. All you do to get into naval aviation is to walk into your navy recruiting station and tell them that you want to go to aviation fundamentals school. Since only the best men get chosen you will then be given various tests to find out if you're one of the best. If you pass these tests and are between 17 and under 31 years old you will be sent to the navy's aviation fundamentals school as soon as you finish recruit training.

If you make good in fundamentals school the field opens up for you and you get an early start into the air age. You'll begin to specialize. For instance, there's the aviation machinist's mate school in which you will first learn the overall principles and practices of all phases of aviation engines.

But naval aviation isn't exclusively for high school graduates. It doesn't make any difference how much education you've had—if you can pass the tests you can make the grade.

"Born Yesterday" Slated For SMJC

County Hit Produced By Peninsula Theatre

The two leading roles have been assigned for the Peninsula Little Theater's production of the Broadway comedy hit, "Born Yesterday," which is being presented at the San Mateo Junior College Auditorium for three weekends beginning April 18, 19. Arline Severson will be seen as Billie Dawn, the ex-chorus girl with more glamour than grammar, and Bob Day will be playing the roughneck war-profiteer who thinks the donation of a mink coat has given him a lifetime claim on her.

Arline Severson was last seen in the Peninsula Little Theater production of "Herod and Mariamne." She has had wide and varied experience enacting roles in such popular productions as "Years Ago," "Make Believe," "Pier Gynt," "Dark of the Moon," and "Just Married." A talented dancer too, Arline is a dance instructor at the Palo Alto Studios of Arthur Murray.

Bob Day, who says his real hobby is raising boys, is well known in the Bay Area for his announcing and handling of special events for television station KGO-TV. Bob handled the telecasts for General MacArthur's homecoming and for the Kefauver hearings in San Francisco. In addition to his television work, he writes continuity for radio station KEAR in San Mateo. He is a versatile performer, whose portrayals have ranged from that of a hypochondriac reporter in "Front Page" to that of a southern politician in "Deep Are the Roots." Audiences will remember Bob Day in "Prometheus," "Just Married," "Trojan Women," and "Anne of the Thousand Days."

Arline and Bob are looking forward to a real challenge from their roles in "Born Yesterday." These are the coveted roles that first catapulted Judy Holliday and Paul Douglas to stardom and film fame when "Born Yesterday" began its fabulous four-year run in New York.

This Carson Kanin comedy tells how a junk-dealer, grown fabulously rich and overbearing through war-time deals, comes to the most expensive suite in the most expensive hotel in Washington, bringing with him along with his permanently drunk lawyer and a few other assorted stooges, a brassy trollop who thought "peninsula" was that new medicine. But when this dizzy blonde really began to smarten up, she knew the definitions of all the big-syllabled words, and LOTS MORE. You'll like her and get a lot of laughs from this story of a dimwit chorine who becomes sophisticated very fast indeed once she starts.

William Stretch, a teacher at San Mateo high school, will appear as the reporter who teaches the dizzy blonde to think, and Wallis Wenner, in real life an art director and color consultant, will be the junkman's disillusioned and high-priced lawyer. "Born Yesterday" is being directed by Robert Brauns, with its super de luxe hotel setting designed by Sam Rolph.

Korean Veterans Can Be Entitled To VA Benefits

It isn't where you've been but when you were there that counts in figuring out your entitlement to Federal and State veterans benefits, Floyd D. Granger, VA service officer for San Mateo county, today reminded veterans of Korean emergency service.

Some returning servicemen are confused by the term "Korean veteran" into thinking they aren't eligible for veteran status unless they actually were in Korea, Granger said—and quickly added it isn't true.

"Federal law provides that anybody serving on active duty in the armed forces at any time between June 27, 1950, and a date which may be determined later by the President or Congress, is entitled to compensation, pension, medical and hospital treatment, domiciliary care, burial benefits and other veteran prerogatives on the same basis as veterans who served in World War II, "the service officer explained.

These benefits also apply to the dependents of persons who have served during the Korea emergency, Granger went on, just as they do to dependents of World War II servicemen.

The areas in which a veteran serves with the armed forces make no difference in the benefits he may receive under the Veterans Administration or state veteran program, Granger pointed out.

He invited returning Korea servicemen and their dependents, along with veterans of earlier service, to check at the Veteran Service Office's new location at 517 Marshall street, Redwood City.

"I REMEMBER"

BY THE OLD TIMERS

From Mrs. E. H. Nobles, Chadbourn, N.C.: I remember when you never saw linoleum on floors. They were scrubbed to snowy whiteness with lye and coarse sand. I remember when people called the porch the "piazza."

From H. B. Smith, Ault, Colo.: I remember when in Kansas the churches used ordinary trees for Christmas programs after wrapping the branches with colored papers as there were no evergreens grown there. I remember wearing heavy leather shoes with one buckle like the overshoes today. Also the "hammock cart" with shafts extending straight past the buggy body which was hung on four coil springs. Also the storm front for buggies, which was a window raised up into the top when not in use. We cut ice from the river and stored it in a cave, covering it with fine straw to keep until summer.

From Mrs. A. J. Kronewitter, Elkhart, Ind.: I remember in Montana when our barley flour cakes ran out, we drank meat grease mixed in melted snow water. When that gave out, we crawled into bed and lay as quiet as we could to conserve our strength. We were settlers on a God-forsaken 360-acres of sand, rock and sagebrush. It was 40 below zero and snow drifts were as high as a house.

From C. E. Pleas, Chipley, Fla.: How I remember cutting wheat and oats with a cradle. It took considerable skill to make an even swath and lay the straw straight, so that it could be gathered into neat bundles and bound by hand. And I remember how sore my thumb got in tucking the knot under the band, if it was bound tight enough to hold good.

State Income Tax

Kuchel Explains Who Must File State Income Tax Returns This Year

(This is the first of a series of articles prepared under the direction of Thomas H. Kuchel, Chairman of the Franchise Tax Board, relative to the liability of taxpayers under the California Personal Income Tax Law.)

State income tax returns for the year 1951 are required to be filed by single individuals having a net income of $2,000 or more, married persons having an aggregate net income of $3,500 or more, or in either case if the gross income is $5,000 or more regardless of the amount of net income.

Estates of deceased persons are also required to file if having a net income of $1,000 or more, or a gross income of $5,000 or more regardless of the amount of net income; trusts must also file if having a net income of $100 or more or a gross income of $5,000 or more; every California partnership and every foreign partnership deriving income from California sources must file a return regardless of the amount of net or gross income.

Net income may be defined as gross taxable income less allowable deductions. Personal exemptions and credits for dependents are not considered as deductions in computing the amount of this net income limitation for filing returns.

In determining liability to file, the differences between the Federal Revenue Law and the California law must be borne in mind. While generally speaking, liability to file under the Federal Law is based only upon gross income, the state law is based upon both net and gross income. It follows that in many cases taxpayers will be required to file Federal returns but not State returns.

FORMS—Form 540 is the only form provided for resident individuals for use in filing 1951 personal income tax returns. This form allows taxpayers with adjusted gross incomes of less than $5,000, regardless of the source of the income, to use the Optional Tax Table if they so elect. Husband and wife filing separate returns may use the Optional Tax Table only if the other spouse also uses the Optional Tax Table, or takes the Standard Deduction of $300. Nonresident individuals should use Form 540NR. Returns for estates and trusts should be filed on Form 541, and partnership returns on Form 565. Instructions accompanying these forms should be carefully read.

FILING—Returns must be filed by taxpayers reporting on the calendar year basis on or before April 15, 1952. Taxpayers reporting on the fiscal year basis must file on or before the fifteenth day of the fourth month following the close of the fiscal year. Returns should be filed at the office of the Franchise Tax Board, Sacramento 14, California, or at any of the various branch offices throughout the State.

RATES—The California law provides for a graduated tax ranging from 1% to 6% of taxable income (net income less allowable personal exemption and credit for dependents), i.e., 1% on the first $5,000, 2% on the next $5,000, 3% on the next $5,000, etc. There is no surtax.

Of special interest to married persons filing joint income tax returns is that the State has not adopted the Federal income tax provision which permits spouses filing a joint Federal return to "split" their income for the purpose of computing their joint Federal income tax liability. Under the California Community Property Laws which apply to income from community property acquired after July 29, 1927, and to all salaries, wages, and fees earned after that date, each spouse may report one-half as his or her community income on separate returns and compute the tax on the basis of the net taxable income disclosed by each return. Taxpayers filing joint California personal income tax returns must continue, as in the past, to compute their joint tax liability on the basis of their aggregate net taxable income.

Adoption Agency Makes Plea For Funds

Have you seen Andy? His picture appears in a letter from the Children's Home Society, statewide adoption agency, being mailed this week throughout the state in the Society's annual Easter membership drive. Andy—typical of thousands of homeless children in need throughout California—is asking friends of children to "give a lifetime" of normal happiness with loving parents.

Children's Home Society, the only privately supported adoption agency operated on a state-wide basis, has found thousands of homes for needy children in the past, with fine couples who recognize the lasting values of licensed agency adoptions.

This year, an increase of service to all children in need of homes, with particular attention to children of minority groups, depends upon the returns to Andy's Easter-time plea.

Now in its 61st year, Children's Home Society is one of the oldest and largest privately supported adoption agencies in the country. The Society operates throughout communities of California, with local service offices in Los Angeles, San Diego, Oakland, San Francisco, Santa Barbara, Bakersfield, San Jose, and Santa Ana. Children's Home Society is licensed by the State Department of Social Welfare. Hundreds of children who are very like Andy in the need for good homes, will be helped if enough people say "yes" to their Easter-time plea for happiness.

Memberships or contributions may be sent in care of the Society's local offices, or to State Headquarters of Children's Home Society, 3100 West Adams Boulevard, Los Angeles.

UNSAFE TIRES

Because a smooth tire has a tendency to pick up nails and other foreign objects more readily than one with good tread, the possiblity of blowouts in increased, warns the California State Automobile Association. In addition to the danger of blowouts, smooth tires will cause dangerous skidding on wet or icy pavement.

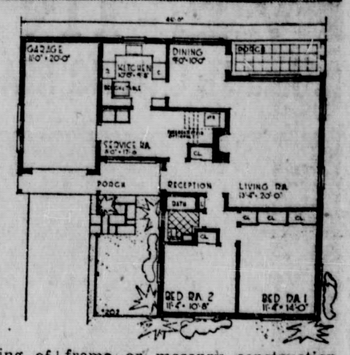
First district—(five vacancies)—Joseph J. Bracco, William I. Farmer, Arthur F. Blomquist, John J. Murphy, Emmett I. Campion, Donald Risso, Robert D. Price, Donald M. Castleberry, Tom B. Markley, James T. McKay, W. Carl Jones, Tom Ricci, Edna Laurel Calhen, Walter J. Gillies.

Compact, Comfortable Too



Designed for comfortable, gracious living, this compact house may be built with or without a basement. It is Plan No. 202 of Walter T. Anicka, architect, of 617 Forest Avenue, Ann Arbor, Mich.

This two-bedroom home with attached garage contains 1,120 square feet of floor space, a useful figure in computing local building costs.

Sturdy hardwood plywood paneling of the reception hall and fireplace wall of the living room are typical of the sound construction specified. The handsomely-grained hardwood face veneer of the panels creates a feeling of warmth and friendliness, and offers the further advantage of easy maintenance.

Flexibility of furniture arrangement is provided in the combined living and dining area. A built-in bench and table also is a feature of the complete kitchen. Adjoining the kitchen is a service room containing full laundry equipment and heater, or a stairway to the basement. The well-proportioned bedrooms also have generous closets, fitted with sliding doors of hardwood plywood.

The exterior may be either frame or masonry construction. The architect suggests a colorful, fire resistant asphalt shingle roof which will harmonize with any material selected. The roof also serves as the color key for the entire house. The recessed entrance porch, sheltered by the overhanging roof which extends over the front of the garage, gives the house a low, ranch-type appearance, difficult to attain in a small house.

(Detailed building plans for this house are available from Walter T. Anicka, 617 Forest Avenue, Ann Arbor, Mich. Refer to Plan No. 202.)

No. 2846 is cut in sizes 12 to 20; 36 to 40. Size 16, 2½ yds. 54-in.
No. 2007 is cut in one size (beret adjustable to any head size). Set, ¾ yd. 54-in.
No. 2431 is cut in sizes 2, 4, 6, 8. Size 4, 1 3/8 yds. 35-in., 5⅛ yds. ruffling.

Child Guidance Clinic Opens May 12 For All County Adolescents

The Child Guidance Clinic, beginning May 12, will open its doors for psychiatric service to emotionally disturbed adolescents of San Mateo county up to the age of 18.

A meeting called by Dr. S. L. Sheimo, director of the Child Guidance Clinic, Friday, March 28, was attended by all county health and welfare agencies including the San Mateo county sheriff's office and the school department. It was the general opinion of these agencies and departments that a great need for this service has been in existence, and still is.

This step to provide guidance to the emotionally disturbed adolescents and their parents will be adding a great service to the county. Even though limited in its available facilities, it is the first psychiatric clinical help within the county of San Mateo for these children. Heretofore, the Child Guidance Clinic has accepted only children from the ages of infancy to 14 years.

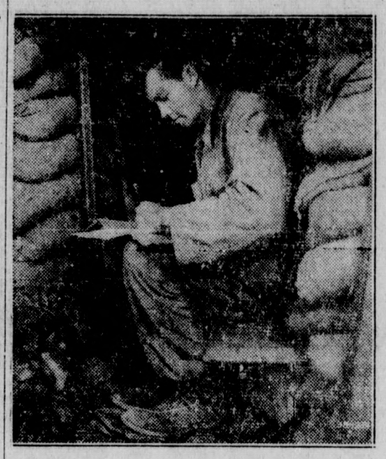
SERVICEMEN'S CORRESPONDENCE FILLS THOUSANDS OF MAIL SACKS

Mail sacks to and from the Far East carry tons of letters and parcels every week in the interchange of correspondence between the American Armed Forces in Korea and their friends at home, and throughout the world.



Letter writing in the present conflict is declared to be carried on to greater extent than in World War II. This is said to be due to the increased efficiency of the Army and Fleet postal services and the more general use of air mail, bringing letters across the Pacific and into the hands of correspondents on both sides of the water in a matter of a few days.

Here is a picture of a soldier writing home—a photograph that could be duplicated hundreds of times every day along the fighting front in Korea, and with slight variation as to background, among the men on the ships, or on the airstrips.

Pfc. Dwight W. Exe, of Minneapolis, Minn., in a sand-bagged dugout is catching up with his letters to the folks at home during a break in the action against the Chinese Communist forces in the rugged mountains of Northern Korea. He is a second gunner on a 75-MM recoilless rifle with the 1st U. S. Cavalry Division. He writes left-handed, but is equipped with a fountain pen and seems to be pleased with the message he is inditing. He hopes that before another week rolls by it will reach its destination and bring happiness and comfort to his friends over here. (Army photograph released by the Department of Defense.)

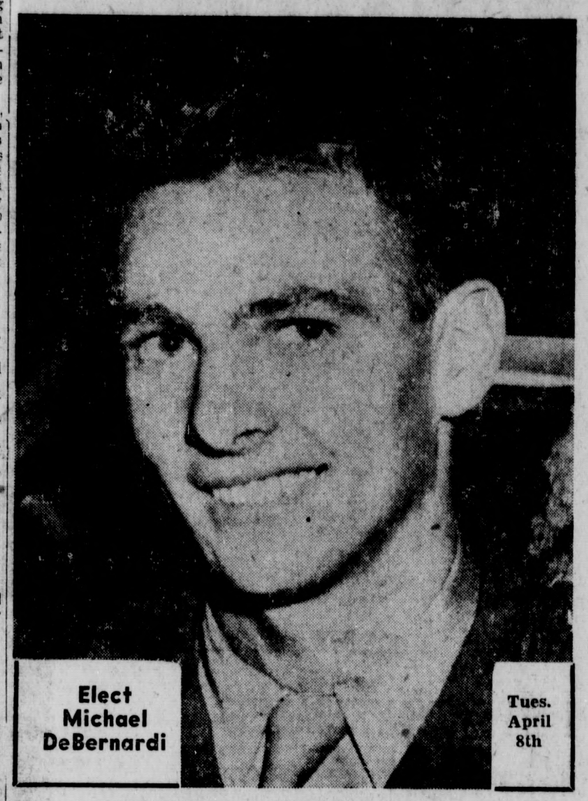
Elect The People's Candidate



-- ELECT --

MICHAEL

De Bernardi

TO THE DALY CITY COUNCIL

April 8, 1952

DeBernardi Believes He Is The One Candidate Representing The People

★ DeBernardi is sponsoring a petition to take Daly City's post office out of the San Francisco jurisdiction. The petition will be referred to California's congressmen for immediate action.
★ DeBernardi points out that all other candidates are running together on a ticket.
★ DeBernardi points out this "package deal" has proven a poor method of electing men . . . it has done away with the necessary balance on the city council . . . has resulted in the council as one big "yes" machine.
★ DeBernardi says the package deal is indicative of "machine" and "big money" backing the candidates for a $50 a month job.
★ DeBernardi says the "first package deal" involves an incumbent who has failed to take any action on anything from recreation to keeping the town clean.
★ DeBernardi says the "second package" deal involves a former councilman who went down to defeat when he sought a second term. This time he has even more financial help, and may be able to make it with the aid of others.
★ DeBernardi says the "third package" deal is somewhat better, but what, nevertheless, is the connection between one of the men and the mayor?
★ DeBernardi believes he is the man who will fight for fair, impartial government for all.

DeBernardi Is Qualified To Serve You

★ DeBernardi is young enough to appreciate the problems of youth.
★ DeBernardi is old enough to cope with the business matters of a growing city.
★ DeBernardi is a long time resident of Daly City, who has taken an active part in local civic and business matters.
★ DeBernardi is a veteran of World War II.
★ DeBernardi is a family man with 4 children who understands the necessity for building a family community.
★ DeBernardi offers a program designated to make this city a better town in which to live.
★ DeBernardi makes no wild offers which he can not fulfill.
★ DeBernardi is the one truly independent candidate asking for your vote.
★ DeBernardi says we now have a one-man government, and there is a definite need for a check on his activities.

Elect The People's Candidate

Bibbero's Babble

By STAN BIBBERO

While sitting in the sun last Saturday, watching Tom Brown, Daly City net ace, compete over at the Olympic Club, I was amused all over again at the fact that tennis is strictly a gentleman's game.

My initiation into the field of sports coverage started on a baseball diamond, where I sweated it out in the hot sun, keeping one eye on the game and the other on flying pop bottles.

Baseball fans are not noted for their politeness. Quite the contrary. They yell, rave, throw things, curse everybody and his ancestor, and enjoy themselves thoroughly. The players, themselves, would look odd in Fauntleroy pants. It's considered good, clean sport to stand in the dugout and make disparaging remarks on the probable ancestry of opposing players.

All in all, baseball is a rugged type of American game, where more than one base runner has gone slamming into second with spikes flying high on the off chance of cutting down a member of the opposition.

Football is not noted for politeness, nor is boxing, wrestling, ice hockey, basketball or other games we could mention.

Tennis developed somewhat differently, and remains the game for gentlemen. Not that I'm trying to imply the game is not rugged—far from it. It takes plenty of stamina and power to play a decent game of tennis, and the sport is not recommended for the middle aged man with a paunch.

As a typical example of a tennis match, Saturday two young men strolled out onto the court, arm in arm. The referee sat down, introduced them as Mr. Jones and Mr. Smith, gave a brief run down on past achievements, and beamed while the audience applauded. Nobody yelled, "Whose that bum?"

After a short warm-up session they started the game. Now, in tennis, there are several fouls—such as foot faults, double net faults, balls just missing the baseline, and so on.

Any one of these fouls, when called by the referee, could cause quite a hassel. But not in tennis. The players, when a foul is called on them, don't question the decision, not even by the raising of an eyebrow.

In fact, and this sends shudders through the more sanguine sports fan, a player may very well call a foul on himself if the referee didn't see it. The other player, of course, is too well bred even to mention it.

One of the contestants slams a hard overhead smash into the back court, and his opponent, who hasn't a chance in hades of recovering, shakes his head sadly and says—showing all his teeth—"Nice shot, old man."

Now you and I know that what he's really thinking is strictly-unprintable.

Well, that's tennis. A clean, hard played and polite game. Which, when you stop for a minute to delve into the meaning and purpose of sporting events, isn't such a bad idea, at that.

Post Office Petition Ready

Effort Made To Get Independent Office

Following is the petition now being circulated, in an effort to get an independent post office for Daly City.

Those interested in signing the petition are requested to contact Michael DeBernardi, 6315 Mission street.

To:

The First Assistant Post Master General, Washington, D. C.

We, the undersigned, being residents of Daly City and Colma, do hereby petition for the removal of the Daly City post office from the jurisdiction of the San Francisco post office, thereby entitling the Daly City post office to a separate cancellation stamp which would be beneficial to the businesses of Daly City as well as to the patrons of this post office. We also protest the curtailment of carrier services by the proposed transfer of all carrier activities now handled by the Colma post office to the office at Daly City. Such transfer would seriously inconvenience the present patrons of the Colma post office due to the location of the Daly City post office, where a one-way street coupled with inadequate parking facilities and traffic impediment by the three-way signal on Mission street make the present Daly City post office quite inaccessible. The very rapid growth of our area should entitle us to expanded rather than curtailed service.

Adele Hansen Wins Lions Club Contest

The annual public speaking contest for Jefferson Union high school students, sponsored by the Daly City Lions club, found Adele Hansen winning over a field of four.

She was picked as top orator by judges, Richard Crane, Charles Garry and Judge William J. Sweeney, of Daly City police court.

Adele will compete with winners of similar contests sponsored by Lions clubs in other localities. If she continues to win, she will be sent to the state-wide contest finals.

At the local club's last meeting, April 2, at the Colonial restaurant in Colma, members Elio Fontana, Ed Weisenburger, and Stanford Hannah were appointed as a committee to nominate candidates for the club's coming election of officers.

Two Local Men Lose Driving Privileges

The drivers license of George Leonard Kallman, 554 San Diego avenue, Daly City, was revoked Wednesday, April 2, on the basis of California Vehicle Code Section 315-B, action taken on bad records or inability to drive safely.

Failure to meet the requirements of the state financial responsibility for automobile drivers resulted in the suspension of the license of Thomas G. O'Leary, Holy Cross cemetery, Colma, according to a recent report from the state department of motor vehicles.
